U.S. Health Center concerned over new flu strain

ATLANTA (AP) — The National Center for Disease Control has reported an outbreak of influenza in humans similar to a virus found in swine — and recalling the flu of a half-century ago that killed 500,000 Americans and 20 million persons worldwide.

A CDC spokesman said Thursday there is no immediate cause for alarm and that any major outbreaks of the disease could be controlled by modern vaccines. But, he said, precautionary steps are being taken, including consultation with the World Health Organization.

An Army recruit died Feb. 4 in an outbreak of the new Influenza A strain which affected five persons at Ft. Dix, N.J., said Dr. H. Bruce Dull, assistant director for programs for the CDC.

A spokesman at Ft. Dix said the recruit was David Lewis, 19, of Ashley Falls, Mass. He said four other soldiers had been hospitalized with the flu.

Dull said isolated cases of the virus in humans have been confirmed in the past but that the CDC has never before recorded an outbreak, which the center defines as several cases in one location.

Another CDC spokesman, Don Berreth, said scientists were unable to segregate flu viruses until the 1930s, so scientists do not know what virus was involved in the 1918 pandemic.

But he said many persons born in the period 1918-1930 have antibodies in their blood similar to the flu virus found in swine, leading some scientists to believe that a swine-type flu was involved in 1918.

"There is no way to be sure whether the swine-type virus was associated with that," Dull said.

Added Berreth, "The virus is similar to the swine-type. Whether that is simply a curiosity or significant we don't know."

The agency has asked state and military officials in New Jersey and elsewhere to evaluate all flu outbreaks in light of the developments at Ft. Dix.

Other outbreaks of influenza have been reported to the CDC this winter, but of a different strain.

The CDC said it also notified the World Health Organization of the Ft. Dix outbreak and asked the organization to determine if the swine-type virus has occurred in "clusters" elsewhere in the world.

Deaths from influenza usually occur among the weak or aged, but the New Jersey cases involved soldiers in their 20s or younger, the CDC said.

None of the men had any known contact with swine, although isolated cases of the strain in the past usually have been associated with contact with the animals, the CDC said.

Berreth said the ability to quickly manufacture vaccines would make fatality figures such as those in 1918-19 unlikely even if a virus should break out as virulent as the one of 58 years ago.

The virulence of that flu strain has not been matched since, the CDC said.

Dull said scientists are "not necessarily alarmed" by the development, "but share the heightened interest because it does have that aura from the past."

China trip at hand for Nixons

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former President Richard M. Nixon leaves today for the People's Republic of China, where four years ago he carried out the most spectacular diplomatic mission of his White House years.

The Boeing 707 jetliner sent by his Chinese hosts to take Nixon, his wife and a group of aides to Peking touched down at Los Angeles International Airport about 6:30 a.m.

After arriving from Vancouver, B.C., the jetliner went to an out-of-the-way hangar where the Nixon party was expected to board. Take off was expected about noon.

U.S. gives new status to Brazil

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger discussed trade with Brasilian President Ernesto Geisel today after announcing an agreement to be signed Saturday recognizing Brazil as a world power and the United States' closest Latin-American ally.

Kissinger spent nearly an hour with Geisel. U.S. officials described the discussion as pleasant, with the Brazilian leader expressing satisfaction over Kissinger's assurance that he would work to improve the trade relationship.

Brazil has been concerned about so-called countervailing duties that can be placed on Brazilian goods sold to the United States. Such duties are imposed to make up for subsidies paid producers in Brazil.

Woman dies in freeway accident

A Yucaipa woman possibly suffered a fatal heart attack Thursday while driving on the San Bernardino Freeway near San Antonio Avenue in Pomona.

Gend Jean Paul, 65, was declared dead on arrival at Pomona Valley Community Hospital. Highway Patrolmen said they would await an examination to determine if death was caused by a cardiac arrest or injuries suffered in the accident.

Mrs. Paul was driving west on the freeway about 55 miles an hour when she reportedly suffered the attack, causing her to lose control of her car, said investigators.

The vehicle ran off the roadway and traveled 160 feet through the foliage and finally came to a stop on its side against a fence.

The victim was taken by ambulance to the Pomona hospital.

Ford claims figures show administration whipping inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retail food prices declined in January for the first time in five months and fuel costs dropped slightly, helping to hold consumer prices to an increase of only four-tenths of one per cent, the government said today.

The Labor Department said the January figures compared with a five-tenths of a per cent increase in December, both determined on a seasonally adjusted basis.

President Ford said the figures show his administration is beating the inflation problem.

"What we've done is really get a handle on one of the most insidious, adverse economic factors," Ford told a group in Dover, N.H., where he is campaigning for presidential primary votes.

For the 12-month period ending in January, consumer prices increased 6.8 per cent, the lowest 12-month increase since July 1973 when prices had risen 5.7 per cent.

Wholesale prices have not increased at all during the past three-month period.

The Ford administration is forecasting an inflation rate of just under 6 per cent for 1976, and the January increase in prices was well within the target period. If continued for 12 months, the January inflation rate would lead to an over-all hike in consumer prices of only about 4.8 per cent in the year.

The Labor Department said a decline in grocery store food prices of four-tenths of a per cent during January partially offset a big increase of prices of services of 1.1 per cent. Services prices were pushed upward by a postal rate increase and higher medical costs and auto insurance rates.

Gasoline and motor oil prices fell 1.6 per cent in January, also contributing to the slower inflation rate.

Among foods, there were lower prices in January for pork, poultry, beef and fresh vegetables. The decline in pork and poultry prices were especially sharp, the department said.

Prices of commodities other than foods increased two-tenths of a per cent in January, the smallest gain in the commodities index since a similar increase in September of 1973.

The Labor Department said its consumer price index in January was 166.7, meaning that consumers had to pay $166.70 for goods that cost only $100 in 1967.

The Labor Department also said that spendable earnings of workers increased two-tenths of a per cent in January and were up 4.3 per cent for the 12-month period ending in January.

The steady increase in the amount of money workers have to spend in recent months has been a major factor in the nation's recovery from recession.

Although most grocery store food prices were down in January, reflecting the recent steady decline in farm prices, some food prices did increase, including cereal and bakery products. They were up for the first time since mid-1965. Prices of dairy products also continued to rise, the Labor Department said.

Restaurant prices increased eight-tenths of a per cent, the largest increase since early last year.

New look in law enforcement

Police chief giving Tijuana new image

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP) — The unlikely police chief of Tijuana is stirring things up.

In his first month Antonio Escobedo Gomez, a wealthy businessman with no police experience, has fired or forced out 40 per cent of his officers.

Thirty new officers were authorized Thursday, and the salary for rookies is being boosted from $200 to $280 monthly.

Today a nucleus of 38 of the city's finest young officers graduates from the police training school across the U.S. border in San Diego.

The number of supervisors is being cut from 57 to 16. City officials are increasing the police budget from $1 million annually to $1.6 million, and they say Escobedo Gomez is clearly the man to clean up what has been a scandal-ridden police force.

The new officers will be healthy and holding high school diplomas but no criminal records—a far cry from the past when bribery and other crimes reduced the force periodically—Escobedo Gomez said in an interview.

This week, he ordered all his officers to get haircuts.

At 55, he is a grandfather who owns 11 curio shops, a retired engineer and former president of the Tijuana Red Cross and the Tijuana Tourism Commission.

"I don't need money," he says. "I have enough to live on comfortably. The base pay for police chief is $480 a month. I can earn that in two days working in my store."

In his home, which Escobedo Gomez himself designed, all rooms face into a private bullring.

The balding, bespectacled new crime fighter of Tijuana is starting to put his imagination to work for the public.

30 die in bus-train collision

CABORCA, Mexico (AP) — A bus and a train collided near Caborca on Thursday night, killing 30 persons and injuring 50, police said.

Caborca is 80 miles southwest of Nogales, Ariz.

It was not immediately known if any foreigners were among the casualties.

Gas consumption

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Californians used more gasoline during the last three months of 1975 than in any previous fourth quarter, state officials say.

But gasoline consumption for the entire year was slightly below the record year of 1973, William Bennett, chairman of the state Board of Equalization, said Thursday.

He said Californians bought 2.58 billion gallons of gasoline between Oct. 1 and Dec. 31, setting a new fourth-quarter record.

Winds topple campers in Baker area

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Hurricane force winds blew through Southern California deserts toppling campers and stranding motorists as visibility was reduced to near zero at some times during the night.

The winds were at their worst in the Coachella Valley and the Barstow-Baker area, the California Highway Patrol reported.

A CHP spokesman said Interstate 15 between Baker and Barstow and Interstate 40 between Ludlow and Newberry Springs were closed for brief periods because of high winds.

In Palms Springs, a police spokesman said California 111 and Indian Avenue in the north of the city were closed to traffic because of strong winds and blowing sand.

"The only way out of town from this end up is up through the mountains and down into Hemet," said Police Lt. Mike McCreary. "Three or four trucks have been overturned by the wind but we have no major injuries."

The CHP said at least 50 vehicles had to be towed away during a two-hour period Thursday in the Palm Springs area and one CHP officer reported to his headquarters that a strong gust of wind had blown out the rear window of his patrol car.

The National Weather Service said temperatures Friday will be higher with the high in downtown Los Angeles, which reached 59 degrees Thursday, moving into the mid 60s.

Elsewhere, highs will be in the 60s along the coast and in inland valleys, in the 40s in the mountains and in the 60s and 70s in the deserts.

Overnight lows will range from the 40s to low 50s at the beaches to the mid 20s to mid 30s in the mountains.

Air board in sweeping decision

Phaseout of gasoline lead approved

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A state agency has approved a far-reaching antismog program which may make California the first state in the nation to virtually eliminate lead from gasoline.

The state Air Resources Board voted approval Thursday of a program that would gradually reduce the lead content of gasoline sold in California, with the maximum in 1980 of 0.4 grams per gallon. The board said the measure was passed in the interest of public health.

The program, if it survives expected court challenges, would become the first successful regulation of gasoline lead content.

The only other attempt at regulation was contained in a 1971 New York City law, but that case is still tied up in court.

After the 3-0 vote in favor of the program, ARB Board Chairman Tom Quinn termed oil company estimates of gas price increases that would result from the measure as "grossly exaggerated."

Some oil company officials claimed the additional refining facilities necessary to comply with the law would increase the pump price of gasoline by up to three cents per gallon.

But Quinn said staff estimates predict the program will cause a price rise of .06 per gallon during 1977-78.

Lead is used to raise the octane rating — the measurement of gasoline burning efficiency — of regular gasoline to convert it to the premium-grade fuel required for satisfactory performance of many cars produced before 1975.

The board had received in November a report showing that people living near the San Diego Freeway in Los Angeles had much higher amounts of lead in their blood than people living in the desert city of Lancaster.

"Our study of 784 children showed abnormally high blood lead levels in 32.5 per cent of children in Los Angeles County, 18.6 per cent in Alameda County and 5.6 per cent in Contra Costa County," said Zelda Penton of the state Department of Health. She pointed out, however, that the children tested were mainly residents of inner cities, where they may have eaten leaded paint from old housing.

The board voted following a public hearing at which spokesmen from the lead and gasoline industries opposed the measure. They said the adverse health effects of airborne lead are not proven, and they pointed out the possible effect the measure would have on gas prices.

The industry spokesmen also claimed, and the board agreed, that leaded gas is being phased out by the increase in production of new cars which burn only lead-free gas.

But Quinn said a substantial number of cars would be driven without the catalyic converter, the antismog device that requires unleaded gas, until 1990.

Jury acquits Little, undecided on Remiro

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Symbionese Liberation Army member Russell Little has been acquitted of all charges stemming from a shootout with a policeman, but no verdict has been returned on Little's SLA companion, Joseph Remiro.

A seven-woman, five-man jury returned the verdicts on Little Thursday after 18 days of deliberation.

Both Little and Remiro were charged with the attempted murder of Police Sgt. David Duge and assault with a deadly weapon on a peace officer in connection with a shooting incident in the San Francisco Bay area town of Concord Jan. 10, 1974.

Jurors were instructed Thursday by Judge M. Ross Bigelow to continue deliberating the evidence against Remiro since they had not considered the lesser charges included in the counts against him.

Little did not testify during the trial, but Remiro told the jury that Luge fired first after he stopped the van driven by Little.

The trial of the pair was transferred to Los Angeles because of the publicity surrounding their conviction in the slaying of Oakland School Supt. Marcus Foster. They were sentenced to life in prison for the Foster killing.

Little and Remiro still face trial in Los Angeles on three counts of illegally possessing explosive materials that were found in the van when they were stopped in Concord.

Folk singer on stage at Pitzer

Folk singer Bessie Jones will present a program in Avery Hall, Pitzer College, at 2:30 p.m. Saturday. Admission is by goodwill donation.

The program will include play party songs and folk songs and will be followed by a film, "Yonder Come Day," about one of the Georgia Sea Islands. Miss Jones will be accompanied by children from the Council Grove Three Elementary School in Compton, who will assist her in teaching songs to the audience.

Best known for a collection of songs widely used in elementary schools across the country, Miss Jones — now in her 70s — is from St. John's Island, off the coast of Georgia and South Carolina. She has spent much of her life collecting the songs of that region, the only remaining area of the United States with the traditions of the slave culture still intact. Many of the songs were published in her book, "Step it Down," which she co-authored with Bess Lomax Hawes.

Currently on a tour of the nation's schools as her contribution to the celebration of the Bicentennial, Miss Jones began her professional career singing with the Georgia Sea Island Singers.

Further information can be obtained from Leonard Harper, 624-6702, or Dorothy Chase at the Folk Music Center, Claremont.

'People's Choice'

'Jaws,' Wayne, Hepburn win

SANTA MONICA (AP)— "Jaws" snapped up the movie of the year award while John Wayne and Katharine Hepburn were named actor and actress of the year in the "People's Choice Awards."

"After 50 years of being in showbiz, this award is a significant affirmation of the industry and my career," said Wayne, who also won the top actor award last year.

Jack Albertson hosted the second annual People's Choice awards, which were nationally televised Thursday from the Civic Auditorium in this Los Angeles suburb.

"All in the Family" won the favorite televison comedy award and the "The Waltons" scored as the top television drama.

Carol Burnett and Telly Savalas were chosen favorite television performers and John Denver was named favorite musical performer. The year's favorite song was "Love Will Keep Us Together."

Robert Blake was chosen "Favorite Performer in a New Television Series." The favorite new television show award was shared by "Welcome Back, Kotter" and "Starsky & Hutch."

Bob Hope and Tony Orlando shared honors for "All Around Male Performer," and Carol Burnett and Mary Tyler Moore were cowinners of the female performer award.

"People's Choice" organizers noted the winners were those who got the most votes in a poll conducted by a professional research company of 10,000 persons, representing a demographically correct microcosm of the American public.

3 approvals needed

West End transit may miss its debut by days

Only the county supervisors and two cities have yet to approve the Omnitrans joint powers agreement for a central transit coordinator and operator in San Bernardino County, but there might be a slight delay on the target start-up date of March 3.

The cities of Chino, Colton, Montclair, Ontario, Redlands, Rialto, San Bernardino and Upland have unanimously approved the agreement, appointed representatives to the Omnitrans board of directors and authorized the staff to negotiate the necessary funds for purchase into the new transit operation.

Loma Linda will consider the agreement at its Monday night meeting, and Fontana has scheduled its discussion for March 2.

Mayor Harold Hayes of Montclair, chairman of the city-county transit force which drafted the provisions of the agreement, voiced optimism that the delay would be brief.

"I was in hopes that we'd have approval from the cities by the March 3 meeting of the San Bernardino Associated Governments' executive board," said Hayes. "But I don't think there'd be any problem as long as Fontana approves on March 2 and the county Board of Supervisors considers it March 1."

The supervisors do not have the Omnitrans matter on their agenda for this Monday. The next meeting to consider it would be March 1 if the board is to approve the matter prior to the SANBAG meeting. If it does not act by March 1, the implementation date will have to be rescheduled.

U.S. offers new SALT position

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin will soon be headed for Moscow with new U.S. proposals that could point the way to a long-delayed treaty limiting offensive nuclear weapons.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger completed his outline of the new American position Monday at the White House before leaving on a visit to South America. It was the second session between the two negotiators over the long holiday weekend.

Heart workers calling in area

More than 6,000 volunteers will call on residents in Los Angeles and San Bernardino counties this weekend in the Heart Association annual Heart Fund drive.

The goal is $150,000 in the drive which will find volunteers distributing educational literature on heart risk factors and collecting contributions to fight the nation's leading cause of death.

The Heart Association derives its entire source of income from public contributions, a spokesman said.

Innocent bystander dies in shooting

SUSPECT

Wounded Neil Liebeskind is removed after he allegedly walked into a classroom and opened fire with a shotgun Thursday. One student was killed and eight injured.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bloody shooting victims brought stark reality to the scene of a television police show after a young computer school student armed with a sawed-off shotgun opened fire on his classmates.

The only person to die turned out to be an innocent bystander caught when the youth tried to blast classmates he had argued with, police said.

The attacker was gunned down Thursday by a security guard working for the television show.

Eight persons were wounded in the incident, including the attacker and the retired police officer working as a guard for the television filming outside a Wilshire-area building where the shooting took place.

According to detectives, Neil Liebenskind, 18, of Chatsworth, walked into his classroom and shouted "Stand up!" to some classmates. He then blasted into a group of students who had thrown themselves to the floor, according to one witness.

After Liebenskind fled, some of the wounded students — leaving behind a bloody trail — staggered outside screaming for help and struggled into the filming area, police said.

Hearing their cries, retired Los Angeles police officer Howard W. Barnes ran from his place as a guard for the television show and dropped Liebenskind with a bullet in the neck, but not before he was hit in the shoulder by a shotgun pellet.

Barnes, 57, working on the set of "Jigshaw John" based on the career of an LAPD detective, retired in 1965 after 20 years on the force, officers said.

Det. Lt. Earl Deemer said Liebenskind was booked for investigation of murder and was in critical condition at Queen of Angels Hospital after undergoing emergency surgery.

Deemer said Liebenskind had been involved "in disputes with two or three people in the class" over both seating and damage to a classmate's motorcycle helmet.

But the only man to die, Fernando Alcivar, 24, of Los Angeles, also a student, was sitting next to an intended victim and was "your proverbial innocent bystander," one detective said.

Kenneth Pastore, 23, who was identified as an intended victim, was treated for wounds to his right shoulder and was taken to another hospital in good condition, a spokesman said.

Barnes was listed in serious condition at Queen of Angels with a wound in his right thigh but authorities said none of the others was seriously hurt.

Sam Kahwaji, an instructor at the school, said he saw Liebenskind enter the building with "a long, thin box."

"I really didn't think anything of it," Kahwaji said. "Then at 8:30 a.m. I heard shots which I thought were cherry bombs. I heard one shot, then two shots and then I saw fire and blood. I saw the guy carrying a gun and I put it together with the picture I had in my head of the guy with the box this morning, and I ran."

One of the others who ran was student Jack Duncan, 43, of Hollywood, who was treated and released for cuts from flying glass, said police.

Four men were taken to County-USC Medical Center with gunshot wounds. Officials said George Gordon, 23, of Santa Monica was treated for a gunshot wound to the left hand and released; Steve Boyadjian, 35, of Encino, was treated for a wound in the right buttocks and released; Steve Sutton, 18, of Downey, was in fair condition with a wound in the left shoulder and Brad Czraske, 20, of Los Angeles was in fair condition with gunshot wounds to the left hand and jaw.

A student in the room, Fawaz Zock, 32, said after firing into the group of students on the floor, the gunman ". . . blasted a second shot, calling someone's name. I heard the man next to me moaning on the floor and I knew someone had been shot."

Patty takes 5th; fight over jailhouse tape

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Patricia Hearst's attorneys, who instructed her to invoke the 5th Amendment 19 times in her bank robbery trial, faced another legal skirmish today in their battle to keep what they claim is potentially incriminating evidence from the jury.

U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter upheld Miss Hearst's right to refuse to answer the government prosecutor's questions Thursday about her actions during the 12 months before her capture.

But U.S. Atty. James L. Browning Jr. said he intended to ask Carter today to admit a taped jailhouse conversation as evidence of the defendant's willing committment to radical social change.

In the contested tape recording, Miss Hearst told long-time friend Patricia Tobin within 48 hours of her Sept. 18 arrest that her future statements would be from "a revolutionary feminist perspective."

Such change, he argued, led her to join with her Symbionese Liberation Army kidnapers in the April 15, 1974, robbery of a Hibernia Bank branch headed by Miss Tobin's father.

Chief defense attorney F. Lee Bailey contends the jailhouse tape is irrelevant to the bank robbery for which Miss Hearst is on trial.

Browning planned to resume his cross-examination of Miss Hearst today, the defendant's 22nd birthday.

Miss Hearst underwent her first full day of cross-examination Thursday and testified that she was not certain that she was brainwashed by her captors — as previously maintained by her defense lawyers. She said, "I'm not sure what happened to me."

She said she did not try to contact her parents during her underground odyssey because she felt they would not want to see or hear from her. She conceded that perhaps she should have risked accepting an early offer of freedom from her captors and cried when asked to recount physical abuse at their hands.

Then, with the jury absent, Bailey fought heatedly against the admission of dates, places and documents that might connect his client to a second bank robbery and apparently plans for others.

Carter took under submission the government's request that papers and notebooks found in Miss Hearst's last fugitive hideout be presented to the jury. Carter indicated it was unlikely he would rule before Monday.

San Mateo County Sheriff John R. McDonald Jr., in charge of the jail where Miss Hearst has been kept since her capture, has been called to testify about the taping at a hearing outside the presence of the jury.

Carter himself made public on Sept. 26 a partial transcript of the tape, setting off a storm of indignation from defense attorneys.

The jury of seven women and five men was removed from the courtroom for more than an hour Thursday as opposing attorneys wrangled over the controversial documents and Bailey repeatedly instructed the pale defendant not to answer prosecution questions.

Nineteen times during Thursday's session, Miss Hearst replied to Browning questions by saying, "I refuse to answer on the grounds that I might incriminate myself."

She refused to identify documents and other items that purportedly relate to her activities between September 1974 and her arrest a year later.

"I'm satisfied as a reasonably experienced criminal lawyer," Bailey said, "that an answer to any question about her whereabouts after September 1974 would be used by the U.S. government and other governments to institute a proceeding against her."

It was on April 21, 1975, that a woman customer was killed during a holdup at a Crocker National Bank branch in the Sacramento suburb of Carmichael.

The taped conversation in jail with Miss Tobin has been branded as meaningless by Miss Hearst's attorneys because, they say, it occurred while she was still under the influence of the SLA and while a surviving member of the tiny terrorist group, Emily Harris, occupied a cell next to hers.

The partial transcript released by Carter last fall included this exchange:

Miss Tobin: "My mom was so happy when you were found I thought she was going to die."

Miss Hearst: "I was so pissed off, Goddamn it."

Miss Tobin: "Were you really shocked?"

Miss Hearst: "Ah, yea."

Miss Hearst, a one-time college coed, told her visiting friend that her "politics are real different from way back when."

When Miss Tobin said, "Right," Miss Hearst replied, "Obviously," and laughter from both women could be heard.

"And so this creates all kinds of problems for me in terms of a defense," added Miss Hearst.

At another part of the tape, Miss Tobin asked her, "Do you want to come home? What do you want to do?"

Miss Hearst replied, "Well, what I want to do is I don't want to have the bail thing where I'm a prisoner in my parents' home, which is possible."

During Thursday's testimony, Miss Hearst wept and her mother, Catherine, also cried softly as the pale defendant gave another reason for not surrendering.

"I felt my parents wouldn't want to see me again," she said tearfully when Browning asked why she never tried to contact her mother and father, San Francisco Examiner President Randolph Hearst.

When Browning asked if she ever thought about writing them a letter, she replied, "I just didn't think that they'd want to hear it."

At a mid-day recess, Bailey said the terrorist tribe attempted to brainwash his client, whom they called "Tania," but it didn't work.

"The process produces compliant behavior," said Bailey. "If it is successful, thought reform is accomplished. If that had happened, I would be defending Tania, not Patty Hearst."

Miss Hearst, although looking slightly haggard after nearly a week on the witness stand, was mentally alert through Thursday's low-keyed questioning.

At one point, Browning referred to Miss Hearst's now-renounced declaration of love for slain SLA member Willie Wolfe, called "Cujo" by his comrades and branded a rapist by Miss Hearst.

The reference to the rapes Miss Hearst said she endured by Wolfe and DeFreeze led to this exchange between Browning and Miss Hearst:

Q. Did you in fact have a strong feeling for Cujo?

A. In a way, yes.

Q. As a matter of fact, did you love him?

A. No.

Q. But didn't you say you developed a high regard for him?

Q. No.... I said I had a strong feeling for him.

Q. What type of strong feeling?

A. I couldn't stand him.

At another point, Browning read a portion of her Feb. 9 testimony in which she said she could not recall ever having said in a taped communique that her mother should cease wearing black dresses because it made her feel like she was dead.

Miss Hearst testified on Wednesday that the SLA had told her about her mother's attire.

"How is it that between Feb. 9 and yesterday you were able to remember the references to the black dress in detail?" asked Browning.

"I hadn't heard the tapes except for the first one," she replied, referring to the playing of the tapes in court between the two dates.

Miss Hearst admitted that in the few days prior to the bank robbery she maintained guard duty with the SLA but did not use a weapon.

And, again, she repeatedly conceded that details in an affidavit she signed shortly after her arrest were wrong although continuing to endorse the substance of it.

She also said she was having second thoughts about her impending marriage to Steven Weed at the time of her kidnap "because I wasn't sure he was somebody I could stay married to."

Miss Hearst said she had made no effort to contact him since the kidnaping. Weed was severely beaten by the abductors.

3 holdup suspects accused of gang rape

Three young men, arrested early today in connection with the robbery of the Stop n Go Market at 1175 E. Philadelphia St., Pomona, have been accused also of the gang rape the day before of a Pomona housewife.

The three were arrested at Calatina and Aralia drives by Pomona officers Robert Thomas and Porfirio Rodriquez who observed that the suspects' car resembled the car used in the market holdup. Inside, the officers reported finding the money, cigarettes and jewelry taken in the robbery plus nylon stockings like those used as masks by the robbers.

Their descriptions also matched the descriptions of the men who raped a 23-year-old woman in her home in Pomona early Thursday.

The victim said that when she answered the door just after midnight, one young man, a nylon stocking over his head, pointed a pistol at her and forced his way inside. He was followed by two companions, also with stockings over their heads.

The three forced the woman into a bedroom where she was attacked and held prisoner while the three ransacked the house. They fled later with her color television set, two cartons of cigarettes, two bottles of whiskey, a tape deck and her wedding ring set. The value of the loot was placed at almost $800.

In the market robbery, employe Dieter A. Hathaway, 22, said three young men entered, asked for gum and, when he turned away, pulled nylon stockings over their heads and one revealed a pistol. They took his personal jewelry, two cartons of cigarettes and cash and forced him to lie on the floor while they fled.

The three arrested were identified as Frank Ward Mitchell Jr., 19, 574 E. Phillips Blvd., Pomona; Arthur William Eaves, 19, 1257 Colfax Court, Pomona; and a 16-year-old Pomona youth. All three were booked on suspicion of robbery, rape, and burglary.

An 18-year-old Pomona man accused of the shotgun slaying of a CHINO man last July 3 has been ordered to appear in West Valley Superior Court to stand trial on murder charges.

Ruben Lerma of Pomona was ordered to appear for arraignment in West Valley Superior Court on Feb. 27 by West Valley Municipal Court Judge Martin Hildreth at the conclusion of a preliminary hearing Tuesday. Lerma is accused of taking part in the shotgun slaying of Albert Martinez, 21, of Chino.

Lerma's brother, Michael Lerma, 21, in earlier court actions pleaded guilty to the slaying of Martinez and is currently serving a term for second degree murder. Two other youths arrested in the case by Chino police were found guilty of second degree murder charges in related Juvenile Court hearings and are now serving terms in the California Youth Authority.

The younger Lerma was originally arrested in the murder case as a juvenile and was arrested by Pomona police on unrelated charges. The Juvenile Court in subsequent hearings ordered Lerma to stand trial as an adult in the murder case in view of his past record.

During the preliminary hearing Robert Russell, 21, a U.S. Marine at Camp Pendleton testified that on July 3 he gave Michael Lerma, also a Marine at that time, a ride to Pomona where he met Ruben Lerma, Pat Gomez and Mike Garcia. In Pomona, Russell said, after drinking some beer he got into a pickup truck with the Lerma brothers, Gomez and Garcia. He said Garica sat in the cab beside him with a rifle, and the three others got into the truck's bed.

Russell said he drove the four into Chino. In Chino he said he thought he heard four or five shots and he ducked. He said he saw no one fire a rifle.

Later he said he drove the group back to Pomona and saw three rifles as the Lerma brothers and Gomez jumped out of the truck.

Police reported that Martinez was driving in the area of Second Street between C and D Streets in Chino, when several persons in the back of a pickup fired shotgun blasts into his car. The pellets hit Martinez in the chest and shoulder mortally wounding him, and struck his brother and two other friends riding with him. The Martinez car went out of control and crashed into a house. Martinez died of the gunshot wounds a short time later at Chino General Hospital.

A witness in the murder trial of Gene Autry Jefferson in a tape recorded conversation with a defense attorney and his investigators confessed to the Aug. 23 slaying of an ONTARIO man at the Friendly Corners bar.

The tape recorded conversation was played for the West Valley Superior Court jury Thursday with the witness, Benny Green, of Ontario listening nervously.

In the trial, Jefferson, of Ontario, is accused of shooting Elton Lee, 33, to death following a fight at the Ontario bar.

Green, on the tape, told defense attorney Raymond Youngquist, the defendant and two investigators first that he believed a man named "Nook" (Francis Anthony) shot Lee to death. "I still believe that Nook shot that dude," said Green on the tape.

Then later on in the taped conversation under questioning from Youngquist, Green said he had the gun that allegedly killed Lee and had given it to a man named Roy Williams. After denying he had shot Lee several times, Youngquist continued asking Green, "Did you shoot the guy."

"I don't know," replied Green.

Youngquist again asked, "Did you have the gun."

"I had the gun," said Green. I thought Elton was going to get to me . . . Elton had his hand in his back pocket. I shot twice."

"Gene never shot."

In earlier testimony Green told the jury that before the shooting he had a fight with Curtis Maddox and Jefferson, a friend of his, stepped in to help.

U.S. to try experiment

Unlimited travel by rail

WASHINGTON (AP) — New tickets that allow passengers to ride as many trains as they wish for up to 30 days will go on sale in the United States for an experimental 2½-month period starting March 1, Amtrak announced Thursday.

The tickets, known as U.S.A.Rail passes, previously have been available overseas to foreign residents planning to visit the United States but have never been sold by Amtrak to residents of the United States, Canada or Mexico.

Travelers will be able to buy tickets allowing unlimited travel on any of Amtrak's regular trains for two weeks for $150, three weeks for $200 and for up to 30 days for $250.

Children between the ages of 2 and 11 will be able to purchase the unlimited travel tickets for half price.

The new fares could mean large savings for travelers who are going a long distance or who want to make several short train trips. The cost of a regular coach round trip ticket between New York City and Los Angeles, for example, is $304. Thus, a passenger could save $154 by using the two-week U.S.A. Rail pass and $104 by using the three-week pass.

Amtrak also announced that the Southern Railway, which operates passenger trains between Washington and New Orleans, had agreed to accept the U.S.A Rail passes for travel on Southern trains starting March 15.

Travelers using the new tickets must start their trip within 15 days after purchasing their passes. They also must make reservations for seats on all-reserved trains and they cannot make these reservations until they have purchased their pass.

Travelers who want to use the high speed Metroliner between Washington and New York or to travel first class on portions of their trip will have to pay the additional cost for the segment they are upgrading, Amtrak said.

Failure to override veto stuns Demos

WASHINGTON (AP) — Stunned by their failure to override President Ford's veto of a $6.1 billion public works jobs bill, congressional Democrats are trying to figure out what kind of substitute measure they can offer.

There were plans in Congress to seek a compromise jobs measure, including talk of giving quick consideration to other pending job creating legislation.

Two Republican sponsored bills offered as alternatives to the vetoed measure would provide aid when the unemployment rate nationwide topped 7 per cent and the aid would go to localities where the rate was above 8 per cent. The national rate in January was 7.8 per cent.

The cost of one bill was estimated at $780 million in the first year and would provide funds for community development in those areas of high unemployment.

"This is really a bitter disappointment," said House Majority Leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., when told the Senate had fallen three votes short of overriding Ford's veto, 63 to 35.

A few hours earlier Thursday, the House voted to override by 319 to 98, a margin of 41 votes.

Brown proposals on judges' pay in legislature

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.'s proposal to hold down the salaries of judges is before the legislature, along with mandatory retirement at age 70 and a merger of Municipal and Superior courts.

The proposals were introduced Thursday by Sen. Alfred Song, D-Monterey Park, chairman of the Senate Committee on the Judiciary.

The major features of the bill and the constitutional amendment:

—A two-year period in which the salaries of all judges, except those in Municipal Court, would be held at the same level, followed by a five per cent annual limit on raises. Judges' raises are now tied to the cost of living.

—A single trial court with two divisions would be made out of the Municipal and Superior courts. One division would hear misdemeanors, and the other would hear felonies.

—Mandatory retirement for all judges at 70 — which would affect state Supreme Court justices Mathew Tobriner and Marshall McComb.

Brown has called judges' salaries "very generous." His 1976-77 budget proposes to give them a flat $65 monthly raise, like for most other state employes.

Song, however, is interested in court restructuring, said an aide, Richard Thomson.

Thomson added: "But this is an alliance with the governor's office so we can get both parts through."

Municipal Court judges now make $41,677 a year, and Superior Court judges $45,299. Both are due for a raise of nearly 10.5 per cent this September.

Judges have fought off previous Brown-supported attempts to eliminate their cost-of-living raises.

A Brown aide said the governor is also interested in reorganization.

"The current system is an incredible waste of effort, a crazy patchwork," said Peter Sly, assistant to Brown's legal affairs secretary.

Song said the unified court "would eliminate a great deal of duplication and confusion...and would free the trial court judge to be assigned wherever he is most needed."

Pasadena freeway unit open

PASADENA (AP)—Cars and trucks have begun streaming along on the westbound lanes of the Foothill Freeway here, three and one-half years after work on the 4.5-mile roadway was initiated.

Officials at the opening Thursday noted the new freeway lanes would link the San Gabriel Valley with the San Fernando Valley and ease one of Southern California's long-standing traffic bottlenecks.

Eastbound lanes of the freeway are expected to be ready for traffic next month.

Officials estimated cost of the the 4.5-mile project at $31.9 million.

Also opened Thursday was a mile-long stretch of the Long Beach Freeway for travel south from its juncture at the Pasadena interchange with the Foothill and Ventura freeways.

Alta Loma man dies installing car stereo

A 24-year-old Alta Loma man found dead inside his closed garage Tuesday evening died of apparent accidental carbon monoxide poisoning, according to the San Bernardino County Coroner's office.

Jeffrey Allen Homen, 24, of 6879 Carnelian St., was found dead on the front seat of his car by neighbors about 5:45 p.m.

Coroner's officers discovered that the ignition of the car was turned on and the gas tank was empty.

Deputy Coroner Harvey Castro said that Mr. Homen was installing a stereo in his car. He apparently turned on the car engine and heater to warm up, said Castro, and was overcome by gas fumes.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The fourth New England writers' and illustrators' conference in children's literature will be held in Northampton, Mass., April 24.

The conference is sponsored by the Society of Children's Book Writers.

Upland still finds cable TV issue fuzzy

The Upland City Council has reservations about International Cable Television's promise to upgrade its system by March 30.

While International and Theta Cable Television Co. recently signed an agreement for the provision of Theta Cable service through the International system, at least Councilman Hal Bailin expressed doubts about the pact at Tuesday's council meeting.

Bailin said he wants the city to continue its investigation of the contract between the two companies until the April 6 council meeting. Other councilmen agreed.

Because of numerous complaints of poor service by International TV from residents in northern Upland and parts of San Bernardino County, the council threatened to cancel the firm's franchise as early as last fall.

The cancellation was delayed, however, to permit International and Theta to work out a cooperative arrangement to provide service to affected subscribers.

Under the newly signed agreement, Theta will provide service to International for 50 cents per customer per month. International has agreed to provide all equipment necessary to rebuild its system

Coast Guard maps plans for 200-mile limit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Coast Guard enforcement of a 200-mile offshore U.S. fisheries zone would involve ships, helicopters and airplanes and eventually might use satellites, the Coast Guard commandant says.

Aircraft of medium and long range would patrol known fishing areas and alert Coast Guard cutters to the locations of fishing vessels. Helicopters from the cutters then would check for fishing, and the cutters would then move in, with boardings where necessary for search and seizure.

In addition, airplanes would provide periodic coverage of the entire 200-mile range within U.S. jurisdiction to detect fishing vessels entering the area and to watch for changes in patterns of fishing activity.

Satellites might be used in the future for detection and communication.

This enforcement plan was outlined last year to the Senate Commerce Committee by Adm. Owen T. Siler, Coast Guard commandant, at hearings leading to Senate passage of the 200-mile limit bill.

The Senate passed the bill Jan. 28 after voting to delay its enforcement until July 1, 1977. A similar bill passed by the House last October set July 1, 1976, as the effective date. President Ford has indicated he would sign if enforcement was delayed until July 1977 to allow additional time for the United Nations Law of the Sea Conference to come up with an international agreement.

The bill is now in a House-Senate conference to adjust differences.

The legislation provides for exclusive U.S. management of fishery resources within the 200-mile zone. Within the zone, there are preferential rights to U.S. fishermen within limits set for resource conservation. Foreign fishermen are allowed only the surplus of any species.

Enforcement authority is given primarily to the Coast Guard, which could, by agreement, call upon the services and equipment of any other federal agency, such as the Navy.

Enforcement officers would be permitted to board and inspect any fishing vessel within the conservation zone, arrest any person with or without a warrant and seize all fish and fishing gear.

District courts of the United States would have exclusive jurisdiction over all cases and could order forfeiture of any fish or fishing gear taken or used in violation of the law.

In addition, a criminal penalty up to $100,000 fine and one year imprisonment could be assessed upon conviction.

In addition to conventional aircraft and ship-helicopter enforcement methods, and the possible future use of satellites, Siler said the Coast Guard is considering research in new concepts "involving high - performance watercraft, lighter than aircraft, and possibly remotely controlled aircraft."

Initially, Siler said, the Coast Guard would plan to remove six cutters from storage and acquire six additional longrange aircraft and four more medium-range airplanes at a cost of about $63 million.

Castro to visit Sweden in fall

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro is expected to make an official visit to Sweden next fall, the government announced.

The Cuban leader was invited to Stockholm last year when Prime Minister Olof Palme visited Cuba. He will probably come in October after the general election, officials said.

to provide a 30-channel capacity on or before March 30.

In other council action members voted to:

—Approve the request of Upland Lions Club to construct an additional storage room at Memorial Park Community Building to store items used in community events.

— Sign an assurance agreement for the Community Development Act application and designate City Manager Lee Travers as the authorized representative.

— Amend the city's swimming pool ordinance which requires fences, wall or buildings surrounding all pools in the city. The amendment would permit commercial facilities, such as the Uplander Hotel, to install a 24-hour surveillance device instead of the wall. This includes a television monitoring system and a device which is activated when any motion is detected.

— Approve a request by Crowell-Levanthal, Inc., for a conditional use permit to establish a commercial specialty shops complex at the northeast corner of Mountain Avenue and Arrow Highway.

— Initiate a pre-zone change to bring the West End Consolidated Water Co. Reservoir east of Benson north of 16th Street into the city.

Upland candidates ponder dilemma: holding down tax, preserving services

By VONNE ROBERTSON
PB Staff Writer

How to maintain existing services without increasing taxes was the prime concern of two candidates for mayor and three candidates for the Upland City Council at a forum on Thursday.

Candidates in the March 2 municipal election spoke briefly before the Upland Chamber of Commerce meeting at The Arbor to offer highlights of their platforms.

Seeking the mayor's post are incumbent Abner Haldeman and Councilman George Gibson.

Haldeman defended the growth pattern in the city and challenged the audience to "get the right facts and not dwell on emotional situations."

"Our growth factor has been blown out of proportion," Haldeman said. "We have adequate water, parks and sewage systems to accommodate another 20,000 people.

"You don't build a sound community without diversification to broaden the tax base."

Gibson also defended the development of the city and said: "Upland's financial problems are similar to those facing all cities."

"I've been criticized because my goals are too high, but I feel that quality breeds quality."

Gibson stated that the city had far too many apartments and called for a stricter adherence to the city's master plan.

The councilman also pointed to the fact that the building boom continues in Upland while it has faltered nationally. Thus Upland's tax base has broadened, he said.

Thre candidates seeking the council seat being vacated by Gibson spoke. They are William Bottin, manager of defense programs for Rohr Corp.; Howard McGarry, an administrator for the state Department of Corrections; and Jerry Morris, a teacher and vice chairman of the Upland Planning Commission. The fourth candidate, Mrs. Isabel Contreras, a switchboard operator, was unable to attend.

Bottin accused the city of approaching zoning "In a fragmented manner."

"We must have more meaningful dialogue between city officials and the public and consider all the problems of the people."

Bottin said the city manager and staff members too often act on their own without direction from the elected officials.

"This can only reflect a weak City Council," said Bottin, who is a candidate for the second time.

McGarry feels that the city can continue to provide adequate services without increased costs by improving the efficiency of operations.

"Upland needs to seek other alternatives besides raising taxes or reducing services."

McGarry favors seeking increases in state and federal funds and would like to see a change in the apportionment of revenue funds to the cities.

He also expressed concern over too rapid growth in the city and urged more "orderly approaches to development."

Morris defended the Planning Commission and said "This is not the time for binding arbitration and rigidness."

"We must work to broaden the tax base and increase income through encouraging industry and commerce on the 600 acres still zoned for this type of development in the city."

Morris challenged other council candidates to attend the Planning Commission meetings to be better informed before they are critical of its operation.

"It's time that Upland faces up to the fact that it is not a self-supporting bedroom community, but a city which needs industry and commerce to help support its city hall and many public services."

The candidates for City Clerk are Mrs. Doreen Carpenter, the incumbent, and Mrs. Mary Lucas.

Mrs. Carpenter told the audience of her eight year's experience with the city and outlined an education program for city clerks which she has been instrumental in developing at UC Santa Cruz. She is an officer in the state City Clerks Association.

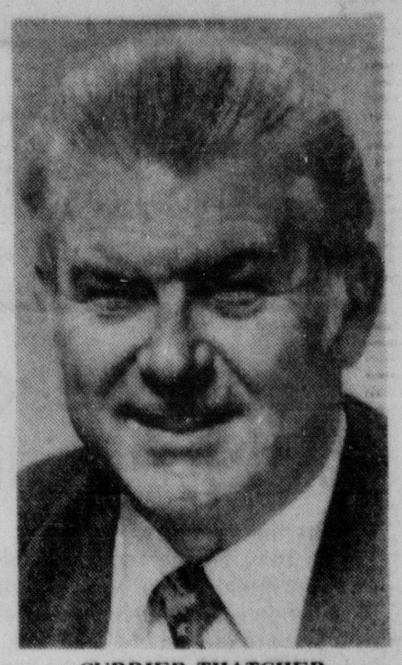
Mrs. Lucas has served 32 years in business administration and office management. Her main concern is that the dissemination of information to the public is inadequate. She is critical of the removal of books on the California legal codes from the shelves of the Upland Public Library.

Robert A. Thrall, city treasurer, is unopposed and did not speak at the meeting.

However Upland Fire Chief Leon Lamphear urged the Chamber of Commerce to support the Proposed Firefighters Retirement Program on the ballot.

He stated it is a property tax override similar to the one granted police officers two years ago and would add just one-half of one per cent per $100 assessments to the tax bill.

"This is only $4 on an $800 tax bill," he said.



CURRIER THATCHER

GUY ALLMON

Currier Thatcher of Pomona has been named as chairman of the Pomona Valley YMCA's Central Branch membership campaign.

The campaign, which will officially begin Thursday, has a goal of $40,000 in participating and sustaining memberships.

Serving as associate chairman for the Central Branch will be Guy Allmon.

Division leaders for the campaign will be Helen Boughton, Elwood Arnold, Tom Matzen, Frank Carr and John Felton. In addition, more than 100 workers will participate in the campaign.

Participating memberships, which vary in cost, are for persons who wish to take part in the many YMCA programs and classes.

Sustaining memberships, ranging in cost from $25 to $1,000 are for persons who wish to support the YMCA programs, but do not plan to personally participate. This type of membership allows the YMCA to offer activities and programs to youths who might otherwise be unable to participate.

The membership campaign will begin Thursday with a breakfast at the YMCA, with entertainment provided by the General Happenings, a singing group sponsored by General Telephone Co.

Linked to Medi-Cal fee padding in abortion case

A former Montclair physician has been granted probation and fined $1,000 in Los Angeles Superior Court on his no contest plea to one charge in the alleged $50,000 bilking of the state Medi-Cal program.

The physician, Dr. Morton Barke, 40, was placed on informal (unsupervised) probation for a one-year period by Judge William Munnell Wednesday. Earlier, Munnell sentenced Dr. Barke to one year in the county jail but suspended the jail term in favor of probation. He also ordered Dr. Barke to satisfy any civil damages charged as the result of the case.

Last month Dr. Barke pleaded no contest to one count of receiving stolen property. The stolen property he was accused of receiving was the money he got when he padded bills on more than 3,000 Medi-Cal claims, according to Deputy Dist. Atty. Barry Sax who prosecuted the case. Sax is with the district attorney's major fraud division.

Sax said that Dr. Barke performed abortions while at Montclair Community Hospital and later at two Los Angeles hospitals before buying his own hospital — Inglewood Hospital.

Sax charged that Dr. Barke performed the abortions and paid an anesthesiologist a flat fee for his assistance, but padded the anesthesiologist's bill and kept the difference.

One other physician also accused in the complaint, Dr. Walter Appleman, 49, of Los Angeles, previously pleaded no contest and was placed on three years' probation.

A third defendant, now attending law school, won dismissal of the charges against him by being granted immunity for his testimony.

65th Assembly GOP race

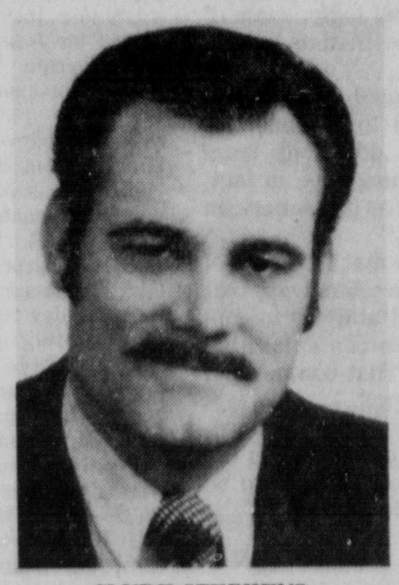
Stephens aiming to reverse liberal tide

Clyde R. Stephens, Republican candidate for the state Assembly's 65th District, said he is seeking election to stem the tide of liberalism and provide representation more in line with the philosophies of people in this district.

"This past year with the overwhelming Democratic control, sanctioned by a Democrat governor, we have witnessed the most immoral legislation in California history. With the vote of the legislature and a sweep of the governor's pen, we have seen crime decriminalized and the lowest kinds of immorality sanctioned," he declared.

Stephens has long been active in local government, serving on the Pomona Planning Commission for the past four years and currently a member of the community's Bicentennial committee.

He has also been involved in Republican activities, serving as vice president of the Pomona Valley Republican Coordinating Council and two terms as vice president of the Los Angeles County Young Republicans.



CLYDE STEPHENS

The candidate resides in Pomona with his wife, Rose, and their three children. He is a quality control engineer with General Dynamics.

Public works bill

'Disappointed' with Senate vote—Lloyd

Rep. Jim Lloyd, D-35th Dist., said today he was "disappointed but not bitter" after the Senate sustained President Ford's veto of the Public Works Employment Act Thursday.

Following the voting, Lloyd declared "The Senate has failed in its responsibility to the public. The vote is not indicative of the over-all will of the people."

The Senate vote, 63-35, failed to gain the two-thirds majority needed to override the Presidential veto to the $6.2 billion measure Democrats claimed would provide 600,000 new jobs.

The Senate action came as a surprise after the House overwhelmingly voted the override by 319-98.

Following the House vote, Lloyd was enthusiastic, claiming the measure would mean from 1,500 to 2,000 new jobs in his district where unemployment ranges as high as 13 to 14 per cent.

The freshman Democrat congressman was convinced the expenditure of $6.2 billion would have had a far greater return in increased income tax revenue and smaller welfare and unemployment payments.

Pomona's share of the money in the bill was expected to be at least $364,000, according to Lloyd's office.

Ontario was tagged to get $250,000, with Los Angeles County receiving $33 million and San Bernardino County, $4 million.

Classified ads have new look

The new look in classified advertising has taken hold in the Progress Bulletin, providing a cleaner, easier-to-read section.

The entire section is now being set by a computer, replacing the hot type process of the past, according to General Manager Bob Bush.

The computer not only sets the ads, but also assigns position to them according to size and classification. It provides more accuracy in handling advertisements which means better service for customers.

The move is the last of a series at the newspaper in converting the operation to cold-type computerized printing. The conversion began last May.

Writers' parley at MSAC

The appearance of five prominent writers will highlight the fourth annual Writers' Day of Mt. San Antonio College Saturday.

They include columnists Jack Smith and Art Seidenbaum from The Los Angeles Times; Nellie Fertig, award winning poet; playwright Frank Chin; and science fiction writer Ray Bradbury.

Aspiring writers in the area are invited to learn from the professionals, and stay for the announcement of winning entries in the college's annual writing contest.

Awards will be given in fiction, poetry, screen plays, children's stories and other literary efforts.

Registration begins at 8:30 Saturday morning at the student center. A $2 fee will include a free lunch as well as all lectures and discussions.

Pomona cyclist critically hurt by crash

A Pomona motorcycle rider was reported in critical condition this morning after his bike slammed into a utility pole in southeast Pomona Thursday afternoon.

The victim, Frank F. Hernandez, 32, suffered a skull fracture and one leg was broken in three places. He was under treatment in Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

Police reported that Hernandez was westbound in Philadelphia Street when he lost control of the bike at a railroad crossing.

Investigating officers said that Hernandez was carrying a small battery charger on his lap at the time and speculated that that may have contributed to causing the accident.

Three young men escaped serious injury later Thursday when their small sedan went out of control and rolled over twice. The accident was at Edgehill Drive and Karesh Avenue.

The driver, James R. Stanton, 16, Pomona, was turning when the accident occurred. His passengers, James M. Murray, and Dave B. Walker, both of Pomona, complained of minor injuries but did not require medical attention.

Busing teachers a better idea?

"Bus the teachers."

This may be the most sensible, or at least the most original, idea yet to emerge out of the nationwide school busing controversy. It was made by a private citizen of Cleveland, which is expected to be the next large city to be ordered to undertake large-scale busing to remedy racial imbalances in its schools.

After weeks of testimony from both sides in a suit brought by the NAACP against the Cleveland School Board, the decision rests in the hands of a federal judge.

But since neither the school board nor the NAACP seems to be able to come up with a solution giving equal education to children, and since the children are the real ones who suffer from all this haggling, "why not bus the teachers?" asks Edith Schepperd in a letter to a local newspaper.

Bus half the suburban teachers to inner city schools and bus half the inner city teachers to suburban schools, she suggests. Let these halves teach in the appointed areas for half the school year, and then reverse the other halves for the rest of the year.

Besides being a great experience for teachers, as well as students, this would balance inequities in education and teachers would really earn their salaries, she says. In addition, parents would have their children in their own areas and "a great missionary work would be accomplished."

Actually, this idea goes beyond anything that has yet been proposed. Busing programs have so far been mostly confined within city boundaries, even though it is generally acknowledged that the real problem — which busing contributes to — is white flight (and increasing black flight) to the suburbs.

Instead of the massive busing of pupils far from their homes, with the attendant turmoil, great expense and dubious results as far as educational benefits are concerned, bring the schools, in effect, to the pupils.

Bus the teachers. Why not?

Beauty contest?

If they awarded medals for appearance at the Winter Olympics, America would be out of the running.

Dressed in Navy peajackets, gray trousers and shapeless stocking caps, the American team arrived in Innsbruck, Austria, looking as though the Salvation Army ran the equipment pool, commented one wire service writer.

By contrast, the Russian team paraded through the stadium during opening ceremonies richly attired in two-toned fur coats and hats and sleek boots.

It has to be remembered, however, that the Russian teams, as well as many others, are heavily subsidized by their governments. In all logic, some of their athletes should really be classified as professionals.

The Americans, on the other hand, are strictly amateurs, as they are supposed to be, and are dependent for their support on donations from private sources. The team's clothing was, in fact, the gift of a mail-order house, and as one American said, "beggers can't be choosers."

It is also thanks to the Russians that the spirit of the Olympics has changed over the years from that of competition between individual athletes to contests between countries to see who can amass the greatest number of gold medals. That competition now seems to include even uniforms.

Fortunately, it is performance, not appearance, that still counts at the Olympics. In this respect the American team has everything in the world to be proud about and nothing to be ashamed of.

Claremont Family-Gram

Dear Editor:

I would like to express my concern over the publication of Family-Gram. As a parent, taxpayer, member of the Claremont community north of Baseline, and one who considers himself a fiscal conservative, I question the use of such a communication for political reasons. The Family-Gram was identified as "An Official Publication of the Claremont Unified School District Distributed to Parents". In light of the recall election, I feel that a significant portion of the February 1976 Family-Gram was a campaign message with only one side of the argument represented. Since the Family-Gram is prepared and distributed at taxpayers' expense, I personally object to the use of public funds to carry on a political campaign. The Board of Education was under notice of recall since February 3, 1976.

I am also concerned about the cost impact on the school district if there are inaccuracies or misleading statements contained in the Family-Gram. For example, when referring to school district enrollment decline, the Family-Gram stated that "this loss is totally at the elementary level" however, according to table 1b-75 of Superintendent R. S. Kirkedall's report of November 14, 1975, K-6 enrollment actually increased between school years 1973-74 and 1974-75. In addition, the same table projected K-6 enrollment in 1978-79 to be exactly the same as 1975-76, assuming residential construction at plus 150 dwelling units per year.

Considering the above, I respectfully request the Claremont School Board to answer the following questions:

1. What is your best estimate of the costs to prepare the Family-Gram of February 1976 and U. S. Postal Service cost for delivery?

2. Is the school board now legally required to provide an equivalent "equal time" to the Claremont Committee for Recall? If so, how much will this cost?

3. What the legal and financial implications of potential inaccuracies or misleading statements in the February 1976 Family-Gram? — G. C. Vandevoort, Claremont

Leaks

Dear Editor:

It's amazing the damage even a small leak can do. With Congress a sieve, the effect is devastating. The country, today, is not a very pretty picture.

Newsprint, particularly, seems to blot the stuff up. Whether it tinges the paper yellow or red, it makes the paper quite unreadable.

Fortunately, it probably isn't bad enough as yet to affect our basic structures. The FBI or the CIA can be redone even though they show a bit of cracked plaster. Business and other institutions will all have to be repainted in a better light to make them pleasing or functional.

Of course, there is no point in going ahead with repairs until we get a lid on Congress. — Ray O. Swanson, Pomona

A yen for the high life

WASHINGTON — Rep. Harold Ford, D-Tenn., came to Congress last year as one of its most promising freshmen. He has been assigned to the powerful House Ways and Means Committee.

But this aggressive young Congressman regrettably has a weakness for high living. He also placed his leading campaign contributors, or their proteges, on his government payroll.

Because they did little work, he raided the federal manpower training program for office workers. This, unfortunately, violates federal law.

The 30-year-old Ford financed his campaign, in large part, from the contributions he received from his campaign manager C. Eric Lincoln, the Rev. R. C. George, dentist Robert Tharpe, Memphis realtor Sam Dattel and their intimates.

On the day Ford was sworn in, he immediately put Lincoln, Rev. George Tharpe's wife and Dattel's protege, William McSwain, on the congressional payroll at salaries up to $1,633 a month.

By all accounts, only Mrs. Tharpe worked an eight-hour day for the new Congressman. It looked suspiciously as if Ford were trying to repay his campaign contributors by putting them on the public payroll.

The working members of Ford's office, meanwhile, were assigned such unusual duties as driving around a pretty, young Delta airline hostess who frequented the office, chauffeuring Ford back and forth from Capitol Hill and babysitting his children.

All of this caused such a heavy drain on Ford's staff that he had to find someone to keep his congressional office going. He discovered the perfect solution, with the help of friends in the city and county governments back in Memphis.

Under the federal Comprehensive Employment Training Act, funds are provided to train workers for local governments. Ford cajoled local officials into assigning the workers to his offices in Memphis, far enough from Washington possibly to be overlooked by the Justice Department. For this misuse of the training program happens to be illegal.

Clearly, the Congressman suspected that he might be violating the law. For he asked the Law Division at the Library of Congress for a ruling. The Library sent him a private, unconditional report last September that "such employment, as a benefit to the Member, would be in violation" of the statute.

There can be no question, therefore, that Ford knew his employment practices were against the law. Nevertheless, he continued to keep at least three of the federally-paid workers in his office. The penalty is a $3,000 fine, plus repayment of the salaries.

The Congressman's personal spending habits are equally curious. He professes to be broke, yet he scatters money around as if it were confetti.

In 1972, he signed a pauper's oath. His campaign committee is still more than $6,000 in the hole. He is being sued for lawyer's fees in a redistricting case.

At one hotel, he piled up a debt of more than $1,000. At another, he was required to pay in advance when his wife passed a bad check. At times, he has been obliged to borrow cab fare from bellhops and office aides.

In the House stationery store, he was "red-listed," thereby barring purchases until he personally deposited money in his account. He spent his entire $6,500 stationery allowance during his first few months in office, part of it to buy hundreds of cuff links and other trinkets for his friends.

Yet despite all the wolves at his door, he has managed to purchase an $80,000 house and furnish it lavishly. He granted an $18,000 loan to his campaign committee, and he splurges on clothes at Georgetown's most fashionable shops.

Ford has also been extravagant with the taxpayers' money. Once he tried to charge the taxpayers for political mailings, promoting a "Harold Ford Day." Even the timid House Folding Room turned him down, refusing to let him use his free mailing privileges to promote himself.

At first, Ford conceded that he realized his use of county workers violated the law. Later he recanted and claimed it was legal. However, he abruptly stopped using the manpower training funds to pay his staff after we questioned him about it. Ford also denied impropriety in any of his staff arrangements. His financial affairs, he insisted, are now in order. Lincoln has also started working full time for his congresssional pay.

War on the hungry

There's a new war going on. It's over food stamps. Food stamps are part of the arsenal of the war on hunger, but a number of officials are using the issue of food stamps to make war on the hungry.

When Treasury Secretary William Simon calls the food stamp program a "haven for chiselers and rip-offs," he condemns people trapped by economic circumstances beyond their control, distorts the facts, and demonstrates the way NOT to deal with the problem of hunger.

This is an issue which needs some plain talk and solid facts. Nobody condones rip-offs. Every social program, whether it's food stamps or welfare or subsidized housing, should be held accountable and should help those in need and eligible for aid.

The fact is that there is less cheating in the food stamp program than in the defense program.

Study after study by the government itself proves that rip-offs in the food stamp program are negligible. Nine out of ten food stamp recipients are poor and the rest are near-poor. The real scandal about food stamps is that over half of those eligible don't get them, not that ineligibles are on the rolls.

So let's stop chasing pony issues and keep our eye on the real issue — feeding the hungry. The rhetoric surrounding the attack on food stamps testifies to the substitution of a war on the poor for the old war on poverty. And nowhere can this be seen more clearly than in the grossly inflated rhetoric and the meanness of spirit surrounding the debate on the federal action to save New York City.

It was unfortunate that President Ford used New York City's dilemma as a club with which to beat his constantly repeated theme that this, the world's richest nation, cannot afford government programs to create equal opportunities, jobs, housing, and other pressing social needs. Witness his veto of the multi-billion dollar public service jobs bill last week.

I would remind those who share this view of Mark Twain's wise words: "Loyalty to petrified opinions never yet broke a chain or freed a human soul in this world — and never will." I believe the nation has misread the real message of New York's continued fiscal crisis.

The real message is that this nation can no longer afford to pursue policies that drain cities of their tax base, ignore gross inequities in our society, and allow an artificially weakened economy to sap our strength while spending freely on an arms race.

The real message of New York City's crisis is that we are one nation, an indivisible whole, and that we cannot punish a locality for vainly trying to cope with problems that are national in nature.

Poor people are the least able to defend themselves. By attacking food stamps, you're kicking someone already on the ground. That is the trait of cowards, not leaders.

Doc Peirsol

Just in jest

I am not going to say: "If we can fly a man to the moon this country should be able to solve its financial problems." That remark has been grossly overdone. But what I would like to point out today is:

If we can produce a "Moo-Moo", a new drink consisting of milk spiked with booze —

If we can design edible underwear called "Candypants" that come in styles for both men and women, and in hot chocolate, wild cherry and banana split flavors —

If our assemblymen can find the courage to vote to outlaw liquid silicone injections on women —

If a college student can use his knowledge to successfully win a contest by smoking 35 cigars at one time —

And if a moving picture producer has the temerity to advertise his brainchild as, "A degenerate film with dignity —

Why then I say: A lot of people must still have plenty of money to spend and, despite all our complaining, we can't be hurting too much.

Probing shows deep problems

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A wide ranging series of studies by Congressional committees and the General Accounting Office are learning why the average citizen puts little trust in the bureaucracy.

Though it has been estimated that fraud and bumbling in Medicare, Medicaid, Social Security, Supplementary Security Income and other Health Education and Welfare programs run into the multi-billions, one report concludes that HEW takes as long as five years to take corrective action against discovery of the deficiencies.

The HEW Office of Security Investigations has a 10-year backlog of uninvestigated cases.

The organizational structure of HEW's fraud and abuse units was described as "fragmented and confused." Numbers of investigators are said to have little training or experience. No meaningful attempt has been made to even evaluate the extent of fraud or other abuse.

A look into the operation of the Guaranteed Student Loan program disclosed that defaults were running at 24 per cent and that accumulated defaults now exceed $400 million. A federal report handed to Congress was so constructed that $300 million in deficits were hidden.

Investigators found that the Interior Department knows so little about the oil leases it offers for sale on the continental shelf that officials have no way of being even reasonably sure they are receiving fair market value for properties worth billions.

Though considerable sums have been spent by the Small Business Administration to help disadvantaged firms become self-sufficient and competitive, the program has been a flop. In six years, the program's success totaled a mere 31 small firms nationwide.

Recidivism is perhaps the major problem in crime control today. Though the Labor Department has been spending considerable sums on pilot rehabilitation programs, the management of these projects is so lax and the records kept are so incomplete it is impossible to evaluate and compare results. Much of the money spent on these programs therefore is wasted.

The Energy Research and Development Administration is assuring Congress it will need less than $2 billion for a demonstration Clinch River Breeder Reactor, no mean sum. Yet investigators looking into the basis for ERDA's estimates, found them fuzzy. Obvious costs were slid over, and almost certain problems ignored. The investigators, after considerable study, were unable to come up with any reasonable data from ERDA to determine what price the project could be built for or to estimate reasonably when it could be finished. Congress, in essence, was asked to vote blindly.

Though there has been much criticism of irregularities on the commodity futures trading markets, irregularities which eventually result in exorbitant prices for consumers with little benefit to producers and high profits for some speculators, a team of government investigators found there has been little meaningful attempt by the government to study the major factors usually believed to be responsible.

The Federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration has been so rough with private companies it is estimated that industry has been required to put in from $1 billion to $2 billion in equipment of such doubtful value no appreciable reduction in injuries has been achieved thereby. By contrast, an investigating team found severe noncompliance in a sampling of government workplaces where OSHA makes only spotty, ineffective checks.

And as for the federal government's own showplace, the District of Columbia, investigators found refuse collection employes, paid for a 40-hour week, worked an average of 24.5 hours. Labor productively for processing individual tax returns declined 40 per cent between 1968 and 1972.

Familiar lament: some of us never learn...

Some people never learn, apparently, and I seem to be one of them.

Way back in April 1975, I dropped my name on a slip to win a free trip to Las Vegas into a box on a counter of a newly opened pizza place.

Sure enough, here came back my original slip from Las Vegas Fun Club in Westminster with a notice that I had won. All I needed to do was send in my membership fee of $14.95.

My husband, a consistent reader of Action Line, said forget it — you'll just lose your money.

I called and voiced my apprehension that the offer was non-legitimate. A "Mr. Jones" got highly upset, told me how he had been in business for 15 years and invited me to visit his office and check out the place.

So—I bite! Off went my check for $14.95 and back came a package with a coupon type slip that I was to return at least 30 days ahead of the time I wanted my reservation.

In July, when we were arranging our vacation trip to Hawaii I mailed in the slip and an additional check for $12 for an August vacation with my daughter, whom I had promised to treat.

My daughter was in contact with the Fun Club almost daily the last week before we were to use the reservations and the phone bill was adding up and up and up. The reservation never came.

Finally, when it was too late to use them, I sent copies of my check by certified mail.

I was promised that Mr. Jones would take care of my problem but I didn't get a refund.

Even if I never get my money back, and I could really use it now because my husband is out of work, I would like to know if there is a Mr. Jones. If there isn't, this may save someone else's $14.95. — R. W., La Verne.

We had a similar complaint from Mrs. J. M., Pomona.

There is a Mr. Jones with the first name of Chuck. He replied by phone to our letter addressed to Westminster.

He wouldn't agree to a refund, saying both complaints were outdated. The membership fee now is $19.50.

The amount of the membership fee, he told us, is clearly stated on posters where slips are picked up.

Although both you and Mrs. J. M., were under the impression you had "won" a trip, he pointed out that this literature says your name was "drawn," making it legal.

We confirmed through the business license office of the City of Ontario that Jones took out a business license last Dec. 10. His office is at 124 E. F St., Suite 8.

He promised us copies of Las Vegas Fun Club literature to supplement copies you provided but they haven't arrived.

Now that readers know your side and his side of the story, they can decide for themselves whether the Fun Club is really fun.

Ann Landers

To each his own tune

Dear Ann Landers: What can I do about a husband who insists on taking me to hard-core pornographic movies and buying far-out erotic junk for "us" to look at?

He says it's very good for our sex life and I should "grow up." I've told him time and time again that those raunchy explicit movies turn me OFF, not on. The whole idea of watching couples and members of the same sex play games (I'd hardly call it "making love") is repulsive to me. It kills any feelings I might have for love or beauty or tenderness.

He says I am either a phony or abnormal. According to him everybody gets sexually aroused by such things. We have had several arguments over this. He also thinks group sex would be "interesting" as an experiment. I told him I'd leave him first.

What are your views? — Square Peg

Dear Peg: I can now speak with some authority on the subject, since I saw my first (and last) pornographic movie two weeks ago in San Francisco. In my opinion, anyone who would go to see that trash a second time has got to be a little sick. If the nausea doesn't get you, the boredom will. I considered it the biggest rip-off since Bell-Boy Ponzi. The price of admission was $5. I walked out.

If your husband enjoys porno movies, let him go alone. The same for erotic literature and "art." If he needs it to turn on, O.K. But I see no reason for you to force yourself to look at it, if it has a negative effect on you.

As for censorship of this garbage, I am against it. I believe adults should be permitted to see anything they want to see and no government should interfere. After a while the vast majority of people will get their fill of the slop and the porno hucksters won't be able to give it away. This is what happened in Denmark.

Dear Ann Landers: My father is a minister. He has the notion that he should be able to wear whatever he wishes when he officiates at funerals.

Last week he wore an Aloha shirt with bright red flowers, open at the neck, and no tie. My mother and I thought it looked terrible. When we suggested that he put on a dark suit, a white shirt and a dark necktie, he said, "People need to be cheered up at a sad time in their lives. They appreciate a little color and nonconformity."

Will you express your ideas on this, Miss Landers? He likes you very much. — Parsonage Family

Dear Family: I may lose a fan, but I must tell you that Mr. Minister is mistaken.

An Aloha shirt is fine for a clergyman if he's attending a picnic or a ballgame, but it is grossly inappropriate attire for one who is performing a religious service — particularly a funeral. Such informality suggests a lack of respect for the occasion.

CONFIDENTIAL to How Can I Face the Future?: With courage. Life is what happens to you when you are making other plans. I agree it's devastating to be bitten by a mouth full of serpent's teeth but your children have a lifetime ahead of them in which to learn and gorw. Don't write them off.

What's prudish? What's O.K.? If you aren't sure, you need some help. It's available in the booklet: "Necking and Petting — What Are the Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Getting up for the slowdown

Next to cancer, no word in our lexicon is more distasteful to doctors than malpractice — and they haven't found a cure for either.

Because I usually read the newspaper while hurrying out the front door with a cup of coffee in one hand, trying to kiss my wife without taking the pipe out of my mouth, she the while straightening my necktie and reminding me to pick up little Sally after school — because, as I say, I do not give the media my undivided concentration, I am a little hazy about the recent "doctors' slowdown."

I've been behind a foursome of doctors on the golf course — if they went any slower the greens committee would declare them a natural hazard and the groundskeeper would paint them. To a doctor a short approach is a compound fracture; a three-foot putt, brain surgery.

Perhaps the slowdown means they are going to drive more slowly. Everyone on the freeway at 8 in the morning drives more slowly — and I don't mean because of the 55 mile an hour speed limit. I mean because if you don't drive slowly you may find yourself in the back of a large cattle truck.

Maybe the doctors' slowdown means they saunter down hospital corridors instead of bustling. Maybe they chew their food, not bolt it. It got so bad the Marcus Welby show ran 15 minutes overtime. The Los Angeles Doctors Symphony played nothing but the largo movements.

The slowdown is nothing new in our society. The Postal Department has been in one since Benjamin Franklin was carrying the Saturday Evening Post. A waitress in a nearby greasy spoon where I sometimes munch lunch moves so slowly you could take a time exposure of her and not blur the film. While she is delivering your hamburger and fries, it looks like stop-action on a TV football game.

Kids on the way to school are no threats to the summer Olympics, either. "Oh, Timmy forgot his lunch!" gasps my wife, snatching up the tin Super-Giant Lunch Box and running to the front door. No need to hurry. He's been gone 10 minutes but he's still in the front yard.

Well, maybe we're ALL in too much of a hurry. What's the big rush? Where are we all going on our jet planes and high-speed cars? What's going to get away? What are we missing — besides cardiac arrest?

I propose a nationwide slowdown. Eat more slowly, relax, walk, don't run. Work more slowly — except when the boss is watching. Sip your martini — don't gulp it. (Bartenders, of course, are exempt from the slowdown.)

Life will be more pleasant if we stroll instead of stride. Give us time for some transcendental meditation while we sit at our desks. Society will get rid of high blood pressure and nervous tensions if we don't treat everything as a crisis. Loaf and live longer.

You'll notice I am typing this column . . . very . . . very . . . slowly.

Dr. Lamb

Hypoglycemia is controversial

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have low blood sugar (hypoglycemia). The first doctor I went to says I'll never be completely cured, but my symptoms would become less severe. I've just gone to another doctor who says it can be cured. Who am I to believe?

The first five-hour test showed blood sugar levels at 60 and the second test at 75 which I was told was in the normal range.

Am I cured or just under control? I also suffered from numbness first starting in my upper lip and spreading to my hands and feet until my whole body was numb, but I never fainted. Was this hyperventilation or was it caused by the insulin level being too high at that time? My big attacks only happened when I was driving. The first doctor said I should see a psychiatirst. Will this help?

Also, I have heard that hypoglycemia is not a diagnosis, but a condition. There are three different types of low bloodsugar and I have the functional type. Why didn't my doctors find the cause? I would appreciate any literature on the subject you might advise me to read.

DEAR READER — First things first. I'm not at all sure you ever had hypoglycemia. A report in the New England Journal of Medicine in 1974, pointed out that 23 per cent of normal population had blood glucose levels below 50 and had no symptoms at all. Other studies note that 42 per cent of normal people have such levels and values as low as 34 and 37 have been noted by several different investigators in perfectly normal people with no symptoms whatsover of low blood sugar.

Your value of 60 doesn't impress me. No diagnosis of low blood sugar or hypoglycemia should be made unless the low blood sugar can be demonstrated at the time symptoms are observed and the symptoms can be corrected by raising the blood sugar. Anxiety and hyperventilation (which may be caused by anxiety) cause symptoms similar to those noted in hypoglycemia. That is probably why the first doctor suggested that you see a psychiatrist. If you have anxiety that would not be a bad idea, not to cure low blood sugar problems but for the proper treatment of anxiety.

For more information on low blood sugar send 50 cents for The Health Letter, Number 3-9 Low Blood Sugar; Hypoglycemia. Enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Address your letter in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551 Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Whether or not you cure low blood sugar depends on if you have it in the first place and what causes it. If it is caused by a tumor of the pancreas producing too much insulin, removal of the tumor cures it. If low blood sugar is a response to diet and rapid emptying of the stomach a proper diet may control it.

The problem with blood glucose values is that they do not give information on the levels of glucose inside the body cells, particularly the vital brain cells. The blood sugar may be high and the level inside the cells low, causing symptoms. This can happen to a diabetic. Insulin helps transport glucose into the cells. Without enough insulin the blood sugar may go up and the amount inside the cells go down. On the other hand if the sugar is so low that not much is getting into the cells you will have the same problem. This is why diabetics and people with significant low blood glucose often have the same symptoms, such as fatigue. Energy comes from the breakdown of glucose inside the cells not in the blood stream. If the cell level is low from any cause the person will be tired.

South looked over dummy and thought to himself, "Why does everything happen to me? Why couldn't I be allowed to play a safe and sure six spades?"

South won the diamond lead and rattled off four rounds of trumps while West chucked two hearts and East two hearts and a club. Then South cashed dummy's other high diamond, ruffed a diamond, cashed the ace and king of hearts and dummy's last trump. He discarded a club. East chucked his last heart and West the jack of diamonds.

The moment of decision had arrived. East and West were known to hold five clubs between them. The sixth card was the eight of diamonds.

Both East and West had discarded in a manner to make it impossible for South to know where the eight of diamonds was. They also had given no clues as to the location of the really important club queen.

You readers can all see that queen of clubs in the East hand. As for poor South, he went wrong and played West for the queen of clubs.

Ask the Jacobys

A Toronto reader asks us what we think of the law of symmetry.

This law has no basis in play. It was invented by Ely Culbertson some 45 years ago when he needed something to write about. There is nothing to it. If your side holds nine spades the other four will divide 2-2 exactly 40.7 per cent of the time irrespective of how your hearts, diamonds and clubs are divided.

L.M. Boyd

Some writers put up own money

Writers who must resort to paying the costs of publication of their own books are not the most respected in the trade. Publishing firms that accept such money from their writing clients are known as vanity houses. They, too, are not the most respected in their trade. Still, some of the great influential literary works in history were financed entirely by the writers of same and put into print by vanity houses. Thomas Paine's "Common Sense," for instance. He didn't make the equivalent of a dime on that tract, but within six months it kicked the colonies toward the Declaration of Independence. It's doubtful the world's best-paid author was that influential. In fact, I know he wasn't. The late Ernest Hemingway won the best-paid credit some time back. But he certainly didn't move human events in the manner of Mr. Paine.

HORSE MACKEREL

Q. "What's a horse mackerel?"

A. An Atlantic fish that if it were a Pacific fish would be called a tuna.

Q. "Who was the first U. S. president to appear on television?"

A. Franklin D. Roosevelt. In 1939. During the opening of the World's Fair in New York, that was.

Q. "Do we have anything in this country like Britain's Fleet Street to stand for the journalism fraternity?"

A. Believe not. Madison Avenue means advertising and Wall Street means finance, but the newspaper makers are scattered all over.

SURNAMES

Consider these surnames: Hanson, Boudinot, Mifflin, Lee, Gorman, St. Clair and Griffin. Do you know anybody with any such monicker? And are you aware of what the men with those names had in common? Never mind, no more guessing games. They were the seven chief executives who carred the title "President of the United States and Congress Assembled" before George Washington took charge.

Credit the Chinese, too, with the creation of the first stained glass windows . . . A dog can hear noises at 200 yards that you and I can't hear beyond 20 yards . . . Now it's said that breast cancer will afflict one out of every 15 women.

If you smoke more than a pack of cigarettes a day, and if your cholesterol level is somewhat higher than typical, and if your blood pressure registers much more than what's normal, you can figure your body will act as though it's 15 years older than its chronological age. That's what the heart doctors contend.

If you make the stairs and the porch and the front door just a little bit smaller, the man walking up and over and toward same will appear just a little bit bigger, when photographed, no? Certainly. That's why the old Hollywood carpenters built their western sets on a scale of seven-eights the actual size. Thus were our gunslinging film heroes magnified to appear larger than the pedestrian average.

Home and garden

Gardeners check list

Lawns will come to life any week now. A feeding at this time will get them off to a good start.

As the weather warms up, keep a watchful eye on your roses. Aphids just love that tender new growth. Ask your nurseryman for an effective spray program or biological control such as lady bugs or praying mantis.

To keep thrips from invading your gladiolus, dust the corms (bulbs) with insecticide before you plant. Then spray when top growth has reached eight or ten inches in height.

Flowering peaches should be pruned each year to promote plenty of new growth for next year's bloom. The sprays of bloom may be pruned off in full color and moved into the house for display, or you can wait until the flowers fade and do your pruning then without delay.

Shade trees are still available in bare root. These trees establish themselves quickly, are easy to handle and are usually less expensive than their container grown counter-parts.

Tree-planting day approaches

Trees that offer a natural challenge to youthful climbers also hold the soil in place, slow down forceful winds, cut noise pollution and provide food for birds and wild animals. They increase the value of property and at the same time they break the monotony of endless sidewalks and miles of highways. The birthdate of Luther Burbank, March 7, is designated as Arbor Day to honor and recognize the role trees play in our lives.

Arbor Day is also the first day of Conservation Week — a time to reflect on the natural beauty of our environment including our natural resources and the importance of conserving them. City planners and community action groups are scheduling Arbor Day plantings; while service clubs and youth groups are organizing tree plantings for March 7. Hundreds of California schools will be observing Arbor Day with varied programs which include the planting of trees.

The environmental action of individuals is significant on Arbor Day. Green Survival, a public service program, encourages individuals working by themselves or in small groups to restore what our environment has lost as our nation has grown over its first two centuries. Green Survival, our survival, means not waiting for someone else to do it for you.

This Arbor Day plant a new fruit tree, or that long-needed shade tree to cool the long, hot summer. Plant the ornamental tree that is to be the pride of the block, and deepen an appreciation for the potential beauty nature has given us.

Choosing trees for a small garden not hard

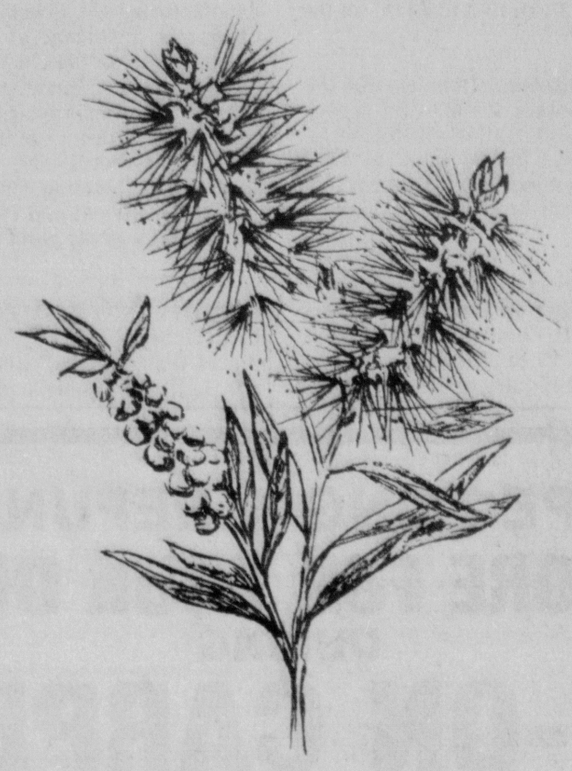
When choosing trees for the small or even the moderate size yard, avoid relying solely on the fastest growing species of trees. A Monterey Pine is a beautiful tree, growing upwards of 4 to 5 feet a year, but give it lots of room. In 15 years you could have an 80-foot tree that throws your house into the shadows and out of sight.

Often the fastest growers require yearly pruning. For example, the Fruitless Mulberry, Morus alba, frequently grows so quickly as a young tree that the dense crown catches the wind like the sail of a boat causing the tree to snap in two. The branches should be thinned and shortened to keep the tree in balance.

However, there are trees that do fit in small gardens and take a minimum amount of care. A Bottle Brush, Calistemon viminalis, can be trained into a tree form very nicely, and the red flowers will provide color during the warm months of spring, summer and fall. Another tree that will add much as a focal point in your yard is the Strawberry Tree, Arbutus unedo. The heavily textured limbs twist and bend to add to the charm of the tree which blooms small bell-like flowers and bears deep red fruit in the fall.

Crape Myrtle, Lagerstroemia indica, with its smooth limbs makes an attractive specimen in a garden setting and can be equally interesting in tubs on the patio.

Bare root trees to consider for small spaces are European White Birch, Flowering Cherry and Purple Leaf Plumb.



BOTTLE BRUSHES — Native to Australia, these can be easily trained into small trees. The versatile evergreen are fast growing and bear colorful flowers in dense spikes spring through summer.

Vegetable gardening lecture set

It's time for planting warm season vegetables like tomatoes, squashes, melons, eggplants, peppers, and corn. A lecture demonstrating how it's done will be given at the Los Angeles State and County Arboretum in Arcadia Sunday, Feb. 29, at 2 p.m. by Ronald Call, education specialist.

A home gardener can successfully grow vegetables in almost any available and cultivable space where there is sufficient sunlight. Mr. Call will explain and demonstrate soil preparation, planting, watering techniques, and insect and weed control as related to warm weather crops.

Additionally, he will discuss planting and care of perennial vegetables such as artichokes, asparagus, and rhubarb.

The lecture-demonstration will be held in the Arboretum's Garden For All Seasons. There is no admission charge.

Camellia festival planned

The Southern California Camellia Society will present its annual camellia festival Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 28 — 29, at Descanso Gardens in La Canada.

With the Garden's famed forest of 100,000 living camellia plants forming an impressive backdrop, it adds up to Southern California's biggest camellia show, widely regarded as one of the great floral events in the country. Visitors can expect to see over 500 varieties of choice, cut flowers from growers from San Diego to Modesto. Most of these flowers were not on the market 10 years ago. Indeed, according to Tom Hughes, show chairman from Montrose, camellia hybridizing has advanced so rapidly that 80 percent of the camellia varieties grown 15 years ago are no longer grown today.

Mr. Hughes has announced that the show is open to amateurs and professionals alike. Anyone wishing to exhibit his camellias can bring them on the opening day to the receiving desk where they will be identified and be given exhibit space.

A section of the show will be given over to "gibbed" camellias, those treated with the growth hormone, gibberellic acid, which induces early bloom and increased size.

Show hours are 12-5 p.m. Saturday and 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Sunday.

Admission is free.

Rose club will meet

The next meeting of the Inland Valley Rose Club will be held Monday 7:30 p.m. at Upland Lumber Company in the upstairs Living Center. All interested persons are invited to attend. Rose bushes will be given as door prizes.

Mr. Meryl Worthy of the County Agriculture Department will be the speaker of the evening and will cover soil problems.

A March 20 tour to the Hemet Rose Gardens is being planned by the Club and plans will be finalized at the upcoming meeting.

Almanac

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, Feb. 20th, the 51st day of 1976. There are 315 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1962, John Glenn became the first American to orbit the earth. After being launched from Cape Canaveral, he circled the earth three times and made a safe landing in the Atlantic.

On this date:

In 1437, King James I of Scotland was murdered in the Scottish city of Perth.

In 1792, President George Washington signed an act creating the U.S. Post Office.

In 1809, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that the power of the federal government is greater than that of any individual state.

In 1938, Anthony Eden resigned as British foreign secretary, charging Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain with appeasement of Nazi Germany.

In 1967, President Sukarno of Inondesia surrendered all executive power to General Suharto, keeping only the title of president.

In 1972, President Richard Nixon arrived in Peking for a historic meeting with officials of Communist China.

Ten years ago: Communist China accused U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk of threatening a major war and declared that China was ready to take up the challenge.

Five years ago: North Vietnamese troops defending the Ho Chi Minh trail overran a South Vietnamese outpost and besieged two others in sharp fighting along the border of Laos.

One year ago: President Ford signed a bill raising the U.S. debt limit.

Today's birthdays: Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin is 72 years old. Indonesian President Suharto is 55. Socialite Gloria Vanderbilt is 52.

Thought for today: History is something that never happened, written by a person who was not there — anonymous.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, the revolutionary Committee of Safety in Virginia rejected an offer by British Governor Lord Dunmore to go to England to try to bring about reconciliation with the American Colonies.

Garey, Ganesha clash for title

By MIKE BROSSART
PB Staff Writer

For the fifth straight year, either Garey High or Ganesha will win the San Antonio League basketball championship.

The titlist will be determined tonight at Ganesha in an 8 p.m. matchup between the Vikings and the Giants, who are tied for the lead.

Ganesha High assistant principal Leon George announced Wednesday that only capacity, as determined by the fire dept., will be admitted.

Ticket windows open at 6 p.m. When the gym is filled to capacity, ticket sales will be stopped.

Each team has won 11 of 13 league games thus far and each has won 18 of 25 on the year. When they met at Garey to conclude the first round of SAL action, the Vikings took a surprisingly easy 80-59 decision.

But since that time, Garey has lost high-scoring guard Kent Jordan and two games, giving the Giants a chance to catch up in the standings.

And this time Ganesha will have the home-court advantage. But that doesn't concern Garey coach Mike Wells.

"I don't worry when we play Ganesha or Pomona," he said at midweek. "When that happens, you know both teams are going to play their best.

"It's the teams like Chino, Montclair and Claremont that worry me."

Garey's two league losses have been to Chino (69-60) and Claremont (62-63).

"When we play the other Pomona schools," continued Wells, "the kids are playing their neighbors. They don't want to get beat because they'll see the other kids over the weekend, and they don't want to be the losers.

"When we play Ganesha or Pomona, the kids are willing to pay the price. They'll dive after a loose ball instead of watching it — they hustle."

Ganesha coach Gary Fulkerson is also optimistic, but seems prepared for anything.

"No matter what happens at this point, I can't complain," Fulkerson said after the Giants' win over Damien Tuesday night. "We really have a great bunch of kids and they've done a great job all year."

Fulkerson's young team — which includes two sophomores and a junior starting on the front line — has improved a great deal since the beginning of the season.

Garey has won the SAL basketball title three of the last four seasons, and Ganesha was the victor the other year. The Giants won the 1974 championship.

The last time one of the two did not furnish first was 1971, when Upland was 14-0.

The Vikings will be working to extend a pattern which has developed during the past three years. The winner of the Upland-Montclair Tournament has won the SAL title each of those seasons, and Garey copped the tourney crown this time.

While the Vikes and Giants are battling for the league title — and an opening-round home game in the CIF playoffs — some other valley teams will be trying to earn their ways into postseason play.

Garey and Ganesha have already clinched playoff berths, as have Alta Loma and Bonita in the Hacienda League and Chaffey in the Citrus Belt.

Claremont and Damien are currently tied for third place in the SAL, and third place often means a spot in the playoffs.

The Wolfpack travels to Chino tonight while Damien hosts Pomona. If the 'Pack wins and the Spartans lose, or vice versa, the winner will hold sole possession of third place.

If both teams win or both teams lose they will remain deadlocked, but Claremont will represent the SAL in the playoffs if the league is extended three berths by CIF officials.

According to Jack Rainbow, San Antonio League manager, a point system is now used to break ties in the league.

Under the system, the tied teams are awarded points according to which teams they beat during the regular league season. The team that finishes atop the standings is worth eight points, the runnerup is worth seven and so on, with the last-place team worth one point.

If Claremont and Damien both win or both lose tonight, the Wolfpack will have more points than the Spartans by virtue of having split with Garey while Damien lost to the Vikings twice. Damien, in turn, will have an extra win over either Pomona or Chino to its credit (depending on whether Claremont and Damien both win or both lose tonight).

But Garey, higher in the standings than either Pomona or Chino, is worth more points, and thus the 'Pack would fill the CIF berth if one were extended.

The situation is not so complicated in the Hacienda League, where a win tonight for Walnut over Ontario would tie the two teams for third in the final standings.

According to Rudy Duvanich, Hacienda League president, that deadlock would be resolved by a coin flip.

Ontario Christian, which completed its Olympic League play Tuesday, holds down third place and may be in line for a playoff spot. If first-place Valley Christian defeats second-place L.A. Lutheran tonight, the Knights will tie for the runnerup spot and almost surely earn a postseason spot.

Other games on tonight's schedule will send Montclair to Upland, Royal Oak to Alta Loma, Gladstone to Bonita, Sierra Vista at San Dimas and Webb to Orange Lutheran, while American Christian hosts Calvary at Western Christian High. All contests will begin at 8 p.m.

Chaffey will host San Gorgonio Saturday at 8 p.m.

Baseball here; are you ready?

Ready or not, the baseball season is here for the preps and colleges.

It's been a long season in basketball for the three local SCIAC teams, but you never had to worry about rain or freezing cold.

All three clubs, La Verne, Claremont-Mudd and Pomona-Pitzer, open the baseball season with twinbills Saturday.

The Leos host UC Riverside in two games starting at noon. C-M is at Point Loma for two and the Sagehens take on UC San Diego at Pomona's field.

Bill Arce has eight starters including two pitchers back from last year's SCIAC champions. The Stags were 23-14 last year. Arce has lost only first baseman Steve Lopez and left fielder Brad Koppel from last year's regulars.

On the other hand, La Verne will present almost an entire new look including red, white and blue Bicentennial uniforms.

Gone from last year's District and Area champions are the entire infield, three of the top four outfielders, both catchers and ace pitcher Dan Quisenberry.

However Ben Hines has imported nine transfers, seven of them from four-year schools. Four of the nine are from Arizona St. Others are from USIU, Long Beach St. and San Jose St. Two are from JCs. One is even from this area, MSAC.

Hines, who always is refreshingly candid, goes out on the limb but good this year.

"We have a lot of depth and I think it could be the Leos' year to win another NATIONAL TITLE," Hines tossed out calmly. "We have that kind of pitching, six strong experienced pitchers."

Hines is accurate

How about that for openers? Hines is something else. Most coaches would be telling you how tough the opposition is and how they hoped to be competitive.

Not Ben Hines. Over the years he has proved to be as accurate in gauging his team's prospects as any coach I've run across. Last year, he told me (before the season started) he would have a super hitting team but the pitching wouldn't be as good.

Injuries derailed the Leopards express for awhile. But they finally got it together and absolutely destroyed opposing hurling in the area playoffs at Quigley Park.

So when Hines says he could have another National Champion (He directed the Leos to the 1972 NAIA title) he's simply telling you the potential of this year's club.

It looks like another exciting season in the SCIAC. It's too bad it wasn't that way in basketball.

Defections and retirements ruined Les Nagler's chances at Pomona-Pitzer. Nagler lost all-conference center Geoff Northrop (to Duke) before the season started. Guard Garry Stewart had to give up basketball because of a whiplash injury suffered in an auto accident.

Nagler even lost the best guard he had left when Steve Pinkson was unable to complete the season because of going to Africa to study during the second semester.

The Sagehens, who haven't been competitive in baseball for several years and in football the last two, appear to be going the same route in basketball.

Football coach Walt Ambord has been fighting a losing battle. After a Los Angeles metropolitan newspaper did a feature on five-foot-three-inch, 118-pound Jon Roldan, Ambord wisecracked, "That was great publicity. I've had all kinds of applications . . . from guys 5-3 and 118 pounds!"

Bruins build Pauley streak

By The Associated Press

The fifth-ranked UCLA Bruins have increased their Pacific-8 Conference basketball lead to two games, stretched their home court victory string to 98 games and go for 99 Saturday night against the Oregon Ducks.

Ralph Drollinger, a 7-foot-1 reserve center, came off the bench Thursday night with five minute left and UCLA trailing Oregon State 62-60 and led a rally that brought the Bruins a 78-69 victory.

Within a 3½-minute span, Drollinger hit six of eight free throws, stole a Beaver pass, then dribbled the length of the court for a layup.

"I would say the turning point of the game was when, with 1:40 to go, Ralph stole the ball, dribbled down the court and made the basket," said UCLA Coach Gene Bartow. "I can't say enough about him. He's a first-stringer, even if he comes off the bench."

Bartow praised Oregon State as "the best defensive team we've seen this year."

The loss gave Oregon State a 7-3 record and put the Beavers in a threeway tie with Washington and Oregon with four games left. UCLA is 9-1.

Washington thumped Stanford 80-59 at Seattle Thursday night and Oregon handed Southern Cal its 10th setback in as many league starts, 70-67.

Oregon has a winning string of eight games, including six in the conference. The Ducks trailed 43-36 at halftime but went ahead to stay with a 16-5 push early in the second half. Greg Ballard, who has scored 71 points in the last three games, got 19 against the Trojans, as did Ron Lee, while Steve Malovic led USC with 19.

Clarence Ramsey poured in a season-high 36 points for the 11th-ranked Huskies in their rout of Stanford, hitting on 16 of 25 field goal attempts.

At Pullman, Wash. the Washington State Cougars opened up a 14-point lead in the first half and a 17-point margin in the second in beating California 98-85. Steve Puidokas scored 27 points, Ron Davis 25 and Norton Barnhill 21 for the Cougars who evened their Pac-8 record at 5-5. Cal, 3-7, got 23 points from Carl Bird and 20 from Ricky Hawthorne.

In addition to the Oregon-at-UCLA game, Saturday's Pac-8 schedule has Oregon at USC for a televised afternoon game; Cal at Washington; and Stanford at Washington.

In Pacific Coast Athletic Association games Thursday night Long Beach State beat Pacific 56-51 to move into a tie with Fullerton State at the top of the league with a 5-2 record and Fresno State kept its playoff hopes alive by upsetting San Jose in overtime 80-76.

LOS ANGELES — Oregon's basketball team prides itself on its defense and intensity.

Pomona's Greg Ballard fits in perfectly with Coach Dick Harter's style of play.

Ballard, a junior from Garey High, gives it all he has and it showed in the Ducks' 70-67 win over USC Thursday night at the Sports Arena.

The 6-foot-7 forward played the entire 40 minutes scoring 19 points and grabbing 13 rebounds.

"I'm pleased with my play this season," Ballard said. "I'm playing with more consistency."

Ballard was just honored as the Pac-8 Player of the Week for scoring 52 points and pulling down 24 rebounds. In the past 10 games, he is averaging 19.5 points per game, 10.2 rebounds and is shooting 59.8 per cent from the floor.

"Being the Pac-8 Player of the Week was just great," Ballard said. "This is a tough conference and I am thankful to be able to earn an award like that."

Ballard was a key to Oregon's second half surge when the Ducks rebounded from a seven-point halftime deficit to beat the streaking Trojans, who have lost 11 in a row.

Defense did it. USC was held to five field goals in the second half.

THANK YOU

Sam Snead, who first won the Los Angeles Open 31 years ago, tips his hat to the gallery after a 15-foot birdie putt in Thursday's first round of the 1976 tournament.

Sam Snead steals show

LOS ANGELES (AP) — His straw hat covers the bald pate and his wide West Virginia smile shows satisfaction as the 63-year-old Sam Snead continues to show the youngsters that the oldsters have something left.

"It's great, no, in fact, it's fantastic that a man Sam's age can play as well as he does," declared British Open champion Tom Watson, 26, who like Snead had fired a four-under—par 67 in Thursday's opening round of the Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open.

Both Snead and Watson were one stroke behind the leader, Tom Jenkins, 28, of Houston, Tex., but the old man still commanded the attention. Except for a double bogey on the fifth hole when he hit a tree with his tee shot and banged a limb with his second.

"Other than that I played pretty well from tee to green," said Snead whose 34-year-old nephew, J. C. Snead, won the $180,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open just last Sunday.

J. C. had said he thought Sam might win another big tournament but personally kind of doubted it.

"I think that's about right," the slammer of yesteryear admitted. "I've been weighing between 190 and 195 the past 10 years. If I could get in better physical shape, I'd have a good chance."

But his club duties interfere with any further all-out tournament play. As an ex-champion, Snead came to Los Angeles for the Golden Anniversary celebration of the Los Angeles Open on Tuesday. He played par golf, better than the others of his era.

Jenkins, the leader, won the Philadelphia Classic last year for his only PGA victory since joining the tour in 1972.

Jenkins was born two years after Snead won his first LA Open and was only two when Slamming Sam won the second time.

"Sam definitely has some experience on me," Jenkins said with a grin.

The Texan from Houston carded five birdies without going over par on a hole. His putts for birdies ranged from two to 15 feet but generally it was his iron game that put him in subpar position.

Jenkins remains a long shot at longer odds than Snead. The Texan's best 1976 finish was a tie for 43rd in the Tucson Open.

Watson, like Snead, had to survive a double bogey. On the second hole, his shot lodged against a fence and he had to chip backward to get in playing position.

Ben Crenshaw and Johnny Miller, the two golfers who have won two tournaments this year, remained in contending position, Crenshaw with a 70 and Miller with a 72, the same score posted by Arnold Palmer and Gary Player.

SLO, Bakersfield visit

Poly needs repeat performance

By BILL LANGLEY
PB Sports Editor

Cal Poly's basketball team was up in the clouds three weeks ago after it swept a weekend series at Cal State Bakersfield and Cal Poly San Luis Obispo to take the lead in the California Collegiate Athletic Association.

Now the Broncos must do it again to maintain their hold on first place.

Only Poly is at home this time. It's hard to tell whether that is an advantage or not the way the CCAA race is going.

Archrival SLO visits Kellogg Gym tonight for an 8 p.m. tipoff followed by Bakersfield at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Poly enters the vital weekend clinging to an one-game lead in the CCAA race with four to go.

The Broncs are 5-1 in league play. Second-place Cal State Los Angeles (4-2) is at Cal State Northridge (3-3) tonight while third-place Bakersfield (3-2) will play at UC Riverside (2-4).

SLO is in the basement with an 0-5 record but Bronco Coach Don Hogan knows better than to overlook the Mustangs.

Being the spoiler for its sister school's pennant hopes would make the season for Coach Ernie Wheeler's SLO team.

Despite being winless in league play, SLO is enjoying a winning season with an 11-10 record. The Pomonans had to battle to earn a 68-62 victory in the first meeting at San Luis Obispo.

Bakersfield, in the thick of the conference race, takes an impressive 17-4 overall record into tonight's contest at Riverside.

New Coach Pat Wennihan's Roadrunners carry a nine-game winning streak on the road entering the weekend. All four losses — including a tight 87-83 contest to Poly — have been at home this season.

Road teams have won 10 of the 17 CCAA games this season to somewhat destroy the soundness of the home court theory.

Poly certainly hopes the home court helps this weekend.

After the big weekend at Bakersfield and SLO, Hogan's Heroes were riding high on an eight-game win streak. Since then, the Broncos have lost four of six for a 13-10 season record.

Fortunately, the only two league games in that stretch were against Cal State L.A. Poly split the pair to hold onto its first place position.

"We hope to duplicate our weekend at Bakersfield and SLO, only in reverse order," Hogan said. "We have to play like everything depends on it and it does. We just have to dig a little deeper for the big effort."

Hogan knows his team will face a patient offense against SLO. The Mustangs like to control the pace of the game as is evident by their low scores. SLO is averaging only 66.6 points a game while allowing 66.4.

Bakersfield is quite a contrast. The Roadrunners enjoy living up to their name with fast break basketball.

Both teams feature guards as their top scorers. Gerald Jones leads SLO with a 16.9 average while Greg Johnwell paces Bakersfield at 15.1.

Senior guard Joe Sills is Poly's big treat.

Sills is averaging 24 points a game and is closing in on the school records for a season and career. He has accounted for 551 points this season and 946 in his two years in a Bronco uniform.

Last week, Sills scored 37 against Cal State L.A. for the most points ever scored by a Poly player in a CCAA game. He has scored 20 or more in 10 of the last 12 games.

As good as Sills has been, Hogan would like to see more blance in the attack. He is hoping the other starters — forwards Jack Gamulin, and Paul Newton center Mark Bernhard and guard Tom Ispas — will pick up their share.

Shooting is the big reason why Poly is in first place. The Broncs are hitting at 48.4 per cent rate from the floor and 71.1 per cent from the foul line. At the present rate, they will set school records in both categories.

Huskies sign Hank Zibell

SEATTLE — The University of Washington announced Thursday that Pomona High's Hank Zibell had signed a letter-of-intent to attend UW next fall and play on the Huskie football squad.

Zibell, a 6-2, 222-pounder, was a two-time All-San Antonio League selection as a fullback for the Devils.

Ali is overwhelming favorite

SAN JUAN (AP) — The heavyweight championship comes to Puerto Rico for the first time tonight, pitting Muhammad Ali, a man who has made millions of dollars from the title, against Jean-Pierre Coopman, whose purse will top his previous total earnings.

Ali is an overwhelming favorite to beat the unranked Belgian despite a bothersome cold and less than top condition.

The scheduled 15-rounder is set for the 12,000-seat Roberto Clemente Coliseum and will be televised live to the United States by CBS from 6 to 8 p.m. PST. The fight is scheduled to start at 6:45 p.m.

Ali, who is getting $1.1 million for his 17th appearance in a championship fight, worked out Thursday, then went to the Coliseum where he weighed in at 226 pounds, only 1½ pounds more than he scaled for his classic victory over Joe Frazier last Oct.1.

Coopman, a sculptor of religious statues, weighed 206 for his big chance. He will get about $100,000 for tonight's fight. His previous biggest purse was $12,400.

The weigh-in lacked any of the flair that has marked previous Ali weigh-ins where the champion often gestured and screamed at such opponents as Frazier, George Foreman and Sonny Liston.

It does Ali little good to shout at Coopman because the 29-year-old Belgian speaks only Flemish and doesn't understand a word Ali says.

Coopman goes into the title bout with a record of 24-3-0 with 16 knockouts. Most of his opponents are unknown outside of Europe and he has fought only once before outside of Belgium, losing a decision to Harald Skog in Norway.

For Ali, who spent much of the time in the days leading up to the fight talking about future matches rather than about Coopman, the fight will be his 52nd in a career which began in 1960 and was interrupted for 3½ years because of his refusal to enter U.S. Military Service.

Ali's record is 49-2-0, with 35 knockouts. His only losses were to Frazier and Ken Norton, both of which he avenged.

Ismael Quinones Falu of Puerto Rico will be the referee, and the Puerto Rico Boxing Commission will select the two judges before the fight. Scoring for the bout will be under the 10-point must system with 10 points to the winner of each round and nine or less to the loser.

There also will be another championship fight on the card, featuring Alfredo Escalera of Puerto Rico, the World Boxing Council junior lightweight champion. He will meet Jose Fernandez of New York.

Escalera will be making the third defense of the title he won from Kuniaki Shibata of Japan last year. It will be his first appearance as champion in Puerto Rico. This fight will not be televised.

Also on the card will be Jimmy Young of Philadelphia, who is expected to be Ali's next opponent. Negotiations are under way to match Young and the champion sometime in April in Costa Rica. Ali would then be in position for his next "big money" fight, most likely against Norton in July at a site in the United States.

Young's opponent tonight will be Puerto Rican Joe "King" Roman, who once tried to take the heavyweight title from Foreman and was knocked out in one round.

Sports pages filled with legal debates

By Associated Press

At a time when sports fans should be looking forward to spring training or thinking back to the Super Bowl, they are instead getting a steady stream of legal debate with their daily newspapers.

Both baseball and football are engaged in several court actions, most of them pitting owners against players, that could deeply affect the future of sports. Some of them are expected to come to a head over the next few weeks.

For example:

—Major League baseball owners returned to court in Kansas City today to continue their efforts to overturn the ruling that made pitchers Andy Messersmith and Dave McNally free agents.

—Negotiators for the owners and the players meet in New York Saturday to continue talks on a new over-all basic agreement.

—Spring training, to be or not to be, will be the subject of a meeting of the owners' Players Relations Committee Monday in New York.

—The future of the San Francisco Giants may be determined when National League owners meet in Chicago Tuesday.

—The National Football League resumed efforts to establish the legality of its college draft in Miami today.

—And on the horizon is the Joe Kapp case, an involved saga which goes to trial in San Francisco March 1.

Messersmith and McNally played out the option years of their contracts last season and were declared free agents by arbitrator Peter Seitz. Seitz said they were free to shop around for another club. Club owners, claiming the decision would allow players to jump from club to club at will and ruin the national pastime, promptly fired Seitz and took the matter to court.

Federal Judge John W. Oliver upheld Seitz' ruling. The owners then appealed to a three-judge federal circuit court panel in Kansas City and were to argue their case there today. If the panel upholds Oliver's decision, the owners will have nowhere to go except the Supreme Court.

Meanwhile, a negotiating team representing the owners, headed by John Gaherin, has been following Marvin Miller, executive director of the players association, around the counrty to talk about a new basic agreement to replace the one that has expired. Miller has been meeting with players' groups and Gaherin and Co. have been meeting with Miller.

Thus far, the talks have been non-productive, and if nothing much happens in New York Saturday, the owners may decide at Monday's meeting of the Player Relations Committee to hold up spring training temporarily. They don't want to begin spring practice and then have everyone go on strike.

At issue is the reserve clause. Players want the freedom to move around. Owners say some restrictions are vital to keep the clubs more or less equal.

While baseball wages war on two fronts—in the courts and at the bargaining table—Messersmith and McNally are in limbo. McNally, who retired midway through last season, is a question mark but Messersmith won 19 games last year for the Dodgers and is a valuable property. None of the clubs will negotiate with him until the legal hassle is cleared up.

The San Francisco Giants were sold earlier to a Toronto brewery, but San Francisco city authorities went to court and nullified the sale. Robert Short and Robert Lurie appear on the verge of buying the club and keeping it in San Francisco.

National League owners probably will approve the sale Tuesday in Chicago.

In the NFL legal wars in Miami, the Seattle Seahawks and the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, the two expansion clubs, have filed a suit to prevent the players association from interfering in the expansion draft. The 26 established NFL clubs want to join them as plaintiffs.

The players association wants the case dismissed and one of its lawyers, Ed Glennon, says the whole matter is just a stalling tactic to buy the NFL time to decide what to do about Memphis and Birmingham, the two World Football League refugees who want to join the NFL. Glennon says he thinks the NFL may have to admit the two franchises or face a barrage of anti-trust litigation and congressional action.

The college draft also has been postponed pending legal decisions, leaving a host of college stars with million-dollar dreams and empty pockets in temporary limbo along with Messersmith and McNally.

Hovering over the NFL is the Joe Kapp case. Kapp, a former quarterback with Minnesota and New England, ended his football career in 1971 when he refused to sign a standard players' contract. He took his case to court, claiming the contract was illegal, and San Francisco District Court Judge William T. Sweigert ruled in his favor.

Sweigert also decided that the Rozelle Rule, which provides for compensation to a team when one of its players jumps to another club, was illegal. A judge in Minneapolis also cut down the Rozelle Rule in a seperate action. The NFL is appealing the Minneapolis decision but cannot appeal the San Francisco ruling yet.

The March 1 trial in San Francisco is to determine damages to which Kapp is entitled.

Saldivar tops Shields

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Unbeaten Vincente Saldivar of Durango, Mexico, scored his second victory in four months over Randy Shields with a unanimous 12-round decision in a lightweight elimination bout Thursday night.

Saldivar, 135, got a 6-4 vote from referee Dick Young and two judges favored him by 7-4 and 7-5 on their cards.

The triumph was the 19th for Saldivar, who had scored a eight-round TKO over Shields last Nov. 29.

Shields, 134½, from North Hollywood, suffered only his second loss in 30 fights.

There were no knockdowns in the fight, but both Saldivar and Shields were cut over the eye, and both claimed a butt by the other opened the cut.

Saldivar, ranked No. 4 by the World Boxing Council, earned a lightweight title shot this summer with the victory.

Stags hosting SCIAC finals

Claremont-Mudd is hosting both the Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Assoc. swimming and wrestling championships this weekend.

The swimming finals got underway Thursday at Voit Pool and will continue through Saturday. The wrestling championships will be held Saturday in Ducey Gym.

The Stags are the defending SCIAC champions in both sports. They have won the wrestling title the last four years and will be shooting for their fifth straight Saturday.

Swimming coach Tom Grall does not anticipate swimming away from the competition this year like his team did in 1975.

"It looks like it will be a much closer conference meet," he said. "We think we'll win it, but it is not going to be like it was last year."

C-M had 331 points in 1975 compared to 161 for Occidental and 128 for Pomona.

Grall has built his hopes around five returning All-Americans, Jack Pearce, Billy Morrow, Ed Mesa, Mike Blatt and Jon Gudman, and three other swimmers who have already qualified for the National Championships this year, senior Mike Sutton and freshman Dave Kent and Robert Mantey.

Mantey, Pearce, Sutton and Morrow paced the Stags to an early lead in Thursday's competition. C-M captured firsts in six events and amassed 244 points. Pomona-Pitzer had 159 and Occidental 144.

Diving and the 1650-yard free style were to highlight today's competition.

In wrestling the Stags go into Saturday's finals in second place behind powerful Pomona-Pitzer. C-M had three conference meets this week. The Stags defeated Caltech Tuesday, 30-24, lost to the Sagehens, 24-23, Wednesday and came back to defeat Whittier, 39-6, Thursday capping as strenuous a three-day period as any school has had.

Pomona-Pitzer, 5-0, finished first with C-M, 4-1, second. If the Stags win Saturday's conference meet, they will be co-champions with Pomona-Pitzer.

"We're wrestling better now than we have all year," commented coach Jerry Ray.

Ray's top bets in Saturday's finals are Seniors Bob Mennis, 190 pounds, and Mike Brown, 167 pounds, and freshman Cody Smith, 167 pounds.

Mennis has a 14-3 record with 11 pins. Brown is 13-2 with eight pins. Smith, former Colorado State High School Champion, is 9-3.

Optimists conduct cage skills contest

The Cal Poly Pomona and Pomona Noon Optimist Clubs will hold the Tri-Star Basketball Contest for boys and girls, ages 8-13, Saturday at Poly's Kellogg Gym.

Registration begins at 9:30 a.m. in the gym. A skills clinic, conducted by Coach Don Hogan and his team, will be held after the registration.

The contest features, skills involving shooting, dribbling and passing.

Trophies will be awarded to the top three finalists in each age group. All participants will also receive a Jr. Bronco membership pass to Poly's final two home basketball games.

All applicants must wear gym or tennis shoes and should be accompanied by a parent.

Bradley's column

La Verne basketball coach Art Bias throught he had a better team this year than last year's 8-4 squad. But the Leos have disappointed.

The Leopards had the material all right. But for some reason the team never jelled. From this corner, it looked as though there never was complete agreement between coach and players as to what kind of offensive philosophy should be employed.

Bias was very successful with a deliberate style of play the two previous seasons. He tried to get this year's team to play the same way. But the players preferred to run and gun.

What evolved eventually was a compromise somewhere between the two styles. There still was too much one-on-one play and, as a result, the Leos never did look like a team, much less play like one.

DISA AND DATA: La Verne's baseball schedule includes home games with the University of Arizona and NCAA Division One champion Cal St. Fullerton (who beat out Rod Dedeaux's USC team for the right to participate in the Collegiate World Series in Omaha.)

The Leos will play Arizona at John Galvin Park in Ontario Friday, March 19, at 7:30 p.m. and at La Verne Saturday, March 20 (two games) starting at Noon.

The Champion Titans (Fullerton) will meet the Leopards at John Galvin Park Tuesday, March 30, at 7:30 p.m. The Leos also will play a conference game at home that afternoon (3 p.m.) against Whittier.

Grand Prix in trouble

Elsewhere around the sports beat, the Long Beach Grand Prix association lost $305,000 on its Formula 5000 race last Sept. According to Long Beach City Auditor Ted Courson, the association will have to sell $1 million to 1½ million worth of tickets for next month's March 28 race to keep afloat.

Lakers center Kareem Abdul Jabbar apparently didn't think much of coach Bill Sharman's insistence on a morning shoot around after a late night plane ride from New Orleans to Houston this week.

Jabbar and other Lakers reportedly were worn out and looked like it in losing to Houston, 114-98 Wednesday night. Jabbar has apparently has not been a Sharman fan anyway. An earlier quote has him saying "Bill Sharman may not be as great a coach as some people think, but he sure isn't as bad as we're making him look."

Remember, Jabbar said that EARLIER in the year.

George McGinnis, Philadelphia 76ers, has joined former great Jerry West in admitting the players are overpaid. West did so while he was still playing.

Now McGinnis, says, "How can I be worth $3 million to play basketball. Deep down inside, I really don't think I am. My agent tells me not to say this but that's the way I feel. If everybody else played for free, I would too. That's how much I enjoy it."

Pittsburgh Steelers lineback Andy Russell is one of the few pro football players who has also seen the light. "We have high pay, short hours, a short season and we play a GAME outdoors. We have a great way of life."

Oxy bombs Leos

'Hens give Poets scare

La Verne and Pomona-Pitzer lost out to contenders Occidental and Whittier in Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (SCIAC) games Thursday night.

The Leopards got bombed at Oxy, 93-57 while the Sagehens gave Whittier a stiff battle before going down, 70-66.

At Occidental, the Tigers jumped on the Leos for a 10-0 lead and stretched it to 19 points, 39-20, at the half. Oxy had its biggest lead, 38 points (89-51) near the end of the game.

La Verne, 5-6 in the conference and 11-14 overall, can finish at the .500 mark in league play by beating hapless Caltech in the season finale Tuesday in the Supertent.

At Pomona-Pitzer, it was just the opposite, a nip and tuck game all the way.

The Sagehens, down by four at the half, 34-30, caught up with Whittier and passed the Poets, 48-46, early in the second half.

The lead see-sawed back and forth until an eight-point spurt by Whittier to put the Poets ahead, 60-52, in the late going. The 'Hens outscored the visitors, 14-10, the rest of the way but fell four points short.

Whittier won the game at the free throw line as Pomona-Pitzer committed 26 fouls. That allowed the Poets a total of 33 free throws of which they sank 24. The Sagehens made 10 of 15 charity tosses.

The 'Hens had more field goals, 28 to Whittier's 23.

After some poor outings, forward Brandon Boyd came back to lead both teams in scoring with 22 points. Guard Carlos Guangorena, who missed Tuesday's game because of exams, scored 16.

The Sagehens, 3-8 in the conference and 6-16 overall, wind up the season Tuesday at Claremont-Mudd. The Stags, 2-8 and 3-19, were not scheduled Thursday. They host Oxy Saturday night at 8 p.m.

PIN COMING UP — Garey High's Tommy Larry is about to pin Ron Coste of Claremont in a 136-pound match earlier this season. Larry, the San Antonio League champ at his weight, will be one of 26 SAL grapplers in action Saturday at the CIF prelims at Fontana High.

Wrestlers set for prelims

By JIM McCONNELL
PB Staff Writer

Over 50 local wrestlers will be in action Saturday in the CIF Southern Section prelims, all with a chance to advance to the Southern Section finals.

The top San Antonio and Citrus Belt League grapplers will be competing at the CIF prelim at Fontana High. The Hacienda League champions and runnerups will be in action at the prelim at Edgewood High. Matches begin at 10 a.m. at both schools.

Those prelims are two of four taking place today in the Southern Section. Each prelim has wrestlers from approximately 10 leagues competing, and the top four matsters in each weight class at each prelim will advance to the SS Finals, to be held next Saturday at Marina High.

CIF State Finals are slated for March 6 at the Cal Poly Pomona gym.

From the SAL, 26 wrestlers will be in action at Fontana. That group includes the first and second-place finishers in last week's SAL Finals, with one exception. Upland's Clay Glasheen (who captured runnerup honors) was bumped from the prelim field by Montclair's Mike Farley in a special challenge match held after the league finals.

All other first and second-place SAL winners maintained their places for Saturday's competition.

Of the SAL titlists, several are rated as having good shots at advancing to the CIF finals.

123-pounder Bill Glasheen of Upland, who finished third in the CIF last year as a junior, should have little trouble advancing past the prelim meet. Clasheen is a two-time SAL champ at 123 pounds.

Also tabbed as SAL wrestlers to watch are Terry Farley of Montclair at 106 pounds, Randy Dexter of Garey at 115 pounds, Tommy Larry of Garey at 136 pounds, Doug Stone of Upland at 141 pounds, Duane Dimos of Claremont at 157 pounds, Randy Coste of Claremont at 168 pounds, Rich Saville of Garey at 194 pounds and Jeff Whitton of Claremont in the heavyweight division.

Whitton and Larry enter the competition unbeaten on the year, while Coste has lost only once in 25 bouts.

Chaffey had three of its wrestlers win CBL championships, and all three are expected to do well at Fontana. The Tiger titlists are Ray Bumpus at 130 pounds, Brent Jones at 136 pounds and Ron Bowman at 157 pounds.

Other Tiger matsters qualifying for the prelims were Erique Lopez 98 pounds), Jeff Barksdale (123 pounds), Al Quiroz (141 pounds), Skip Champion (148 pounds) and Dave Kaufman (168 pounds).

The champs from the H.L. will be traveling to Edgewood Saturday. Hacienda team titlist Ontario is expected to do well, as five Jags go into the Edgewood competition as league champs.

The five are 106-pounder Jesse Guillen, 123-pounder George Beckner, 157-pounder Bill Haselrig, 168-pounder Larry Cutbirth and 178-pounder Dan Brooks.

Other local Hacienda League grapplers who figure to do well at Edgewood would be Walnut's Bruce Yamashita at 115 pounds, Alta Loma's Joey Aguilar at 130 pounds, Bonita's Fred Mendoza at 141 pounds and San Dimas' Bob Pleasant at 148 pounds.

Prep cage roundup

Tigers near CBL crown

Chaffey High, in contention for the Citrus Belt League basketball title, moved one step closer to that goal Thursday night with a 72-59 win over visiting Eisenhower.

That victory, coupled with Fontana's stunning 70-62 upset over league-leader San Gorgonio, means that Saturday's CBL finale between the Tigers and S.G. at Chaffey will decide the league champ.

Chaffey will carry a 11-3 league mark (15-7 overall) into the game. San Gorgonio is now 12-2 in league and 22-2 overall. The two schools have split their previous two CBL meetings.

Forward John Mattke pumped in 26 points and center Mark McQuaid added 22 in the win over Eisenhower. The visitors had tied the game at 49-49 early in the final quarter but the Tigers pulled away for the win.

Eisenhower's top scorer, on the season, guard Ron Lott was held to only three points before fouling out. Dan Hopkins and Mike Moses led Ike with 14 points apiece.

In other prep action Thursday night, Webb School upset Sherman Indian 64-44 in an Arrowhead League game while American Christian closed out its season with an easy 71-47 win over Calvary Baptist.

Webb received 18 points from Marshall Morton and a 16-point, 16-rebound game from Doug Seaborne to down Sherman. Guard Steve Galvan also scored 16 for the victors.

Webb, now 6-7 in league and 11-12 overall, will close out its season tonight with a loop tilt at Orange Lutheran.

American's Rick Sherman netted 26 points as the Minutemen buried Calvary. The victory finishes the year for American with a 7-9 record, 5-7 in the Christian League.

Baseball roundup

MSAC, Chaffey cruise to wins

Both Mt. San Antonio and Chaffey blasted foes in college baseball action Thursday, but Citrus was upset by Imperial Valley.

MSAC routed L.A. Harbor 15-2 in the opening round of the Pierce Tourney, while Chaffey bombed College of the Desert 14-5 in the opener of the Imperial Valley Tourney. However, in the same tourney, host Imperial Valley edged Citrus 3-2 in ten innings.

The Mounties' Kevin Chapman fired a seven-hitter to post the win. He was supported by a 15-hit MSAC attack. Ron Roenicke led that assault with a double and a three-run homer, finishing the day with six RBIs and three runs scored.

Chaffey's Larry Jones also had a big day at the plate, as he poked two home runs and a double, good for four RBIs and three runs scored in the Panthers easy win over COD. Panther Howard Garcia added four hits to the winning cause.

Imperial Valley's Rusty Garcia out-dueled the Owls' Hank Ritchey to post the mound win. IVJC scored with two outs in the tenth on Ralph Mantado's single to win it.

MSAC, now 4-1 on the year, will square off against Compton JC today at 2 p.m. at the Mountie diamond in second-round action in the Pierce Tourney.

Chaffey (4-2) plays today at 1 p.m. vs. Barstow in the championship bracket of the Imperial Valley affair, while the Owls (4-2) also play at 1 p.m. in the consolation bracket vs. Victorville.

1977 NCAA finals tickets go on sale

MISSION, Kans. — Tickets for the 1977 National Collegiate Basketball Championship will go on sale April 1, 1976, according to Stan Watts, chairman of the NCAA Division I Basketball Committee.

The 1977 NCAA Basketball Championship is scheduled for the Omni in Atlanta, Georgia, March 26 and 28. It will be hosted by the University of Georgia.

All public sales are by mail only, and fans attempting to purchase tickets must not have their order postmarked prior to April 1. Applications postmarked before this date will not be processed.

"There has been such a demand for tickets the past few years, we have had to hold a lottery to determine whose orders would be processed," said Watts. "We will require the Omni to hold all orders for at least three weeks to permit all April 1 postmarks to arrive, and then all orders will be placed in the lottery.

Tickets for individual sessions are not available, and must be purchased in two's or four's. There is a four-ticket limit per order.

Tickets are priced at $14.00 per session (including taxes and handling), and the total cost for the National Semifinals and Finals is $28.00.

All ticket orders not drawn from the lottery will be returned to the sender and marked "REFUSED—SOLD OUT." Each order must include a certified check or money order payable to the NCAA Basketball Finals. Personal checks will not be accepted.

All tickets will be mailed from the Omni on or before June 30, 1976.

Mail orders should be addressed to: 1977 NCAA Basketball Finals, The Omni, 100 Techwood Drive, N.W., Atlanta, Georgia 30303.

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Kathy McMillan, an 18-year-old high school student, tied the American indoor long jump record for women with a leap of 21 feet, 4¾ inches during an invitational high school meet Thursday night. Ironically, though, she didn't make the final of her event.

She was competing against boys in the meet and stood only seventh after the trials. Only the top five contestants advanced to the final. Miss McMillan did, however, outjump eight other boys competing in the event.

Miss McMillan, a student at Hoke County High School in Raeford, N.C., tied the U.S. record held by Olympian Martha Watson in 1973. It's the second time the record has been tied. Miss Watson equalled her own mark during a meet in Los Angeles last month.

NEW YORK (AP) — Steve Ralbovsky, top draft choice of the Los Angeles Skyhawks, signed with the American Soccer League team Thursday.

Ralbovsky, who starred at Brown University, agreed to terms with Jack Young, managing general partner of the Skyhawks in the ASL's New York office.

He is the second collegiate draft choice signed by Los Angeles in two days, following Brooks Cryder of Philadelphia Textile.

Locals open track season

Cal Poly's track and field squad will open its 1976 season with a home meet against San Diego State Saturday at 1 p.m.

Meanwhile, Claremont-Mudd's Stags will travel north to Cal State Bakersfield and Pomona-Pitzer's Sagehens will go to the University of Nevada-Las Vegas.

The Broncos have 11 returning lettermen from last year's squad, which placed third in the California Collegiate Athletic Association championships and sixth in the nation in college division II competition.

Mark Kegans, a college division All-American selection last year in the pole vault, is back after placing second in the 1975 NCAA college division II championships.

Other top returnees include Tim O'Connor, who placed first in the CCAA (third in the conference in the 440-yard run), Geroge McFarland (third in 880) and Paul Nelson (second in 440 intermediate hurdles).

First-year coach Jim George lists among his top newcomers Mark Lotich (steeplechase), Greg Morrison (mile and three mile), Walt Scorggy (pole vault and high jump) and Brian Williams (high jump.)

He expects his team to be strong in the middle distances, the intermediate hurdles, mile relay, pole vault, javelin and high jump. However, the Broncos lost several good sprinters to graduation.

Claremont-Mudd will be facing some of the top NCAA division II schools in the nation Saturday, and does not figure to pick up too many points in Bakersfield.

But new coach Gayle Hopkins hopes that the Stags' larger squad size, as well as the establishment of a full time track coaching position, will help them fare better this year in the Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference.

Hopkins is hoping that more Stag athletes will be able to stick strictly to their specialty this season than in the past, and that Claremont-Mudd will be competitive in more events.

Softballers hold tryouts

The Southern California Stars men's professional fast-pitch softball team will open its spring training Sunday at York Field, located at Santa Fe Springs Road and Slauson in Whittier.

The workouts are open to the public. Prospects who wish a tryout with the Stars should report Sunday at 3 p.m.

The Stars play an 80-game schedule with teams from Arizona, Nevada and Southern California participating.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — David Pearson topped $1.5 million in career NASCAR winnings with the $46,800 he won Sunday for first place in the Daytona 500 stock car race.

Pearson, winner of 89 Grand National races in 445 starts, has won $1,502,186, according to records at NASCAR headquarters.

Pearson, 41, a two-time Grand National and NASCAR's all-time leading superspeedway champion, is one of four members of stock car racing's Millionaire Club, with Richard Petty, Bobby Allison and Cale Yarborough.

SEATTLE (AP) — Clarence Ramsey's season-high 36 points led the 11th-ranked University of Washington Huskies to an 80-59 Pacific-8 Conference basketball victory over Stanford Thursday night.

The 6-foot-4 senior guard scored 11 points in the first six minutes of the second half when Washington went on a 17-4 scoring spurt to grab a 54-37 lead.

SEATTLE (AP) — Whether Lonnie Shelton, Oregon State University's 6-foot-8, 240-pound basketball center, will be able to finish the season is being considered today by a threemember panel of the U. S. Court of Appeals.

The judges' decision could have far-reaching consequences on rules governing college athletics.

Shelton last year signed a contract with the American Basketball Association, but he later reneged. He was able to continue playing for Oregon State after a temporary injunction was issued last November.

The judges are considering an appeal by the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

The NCAA is attempting to overcome a temporary injunction issued by U.S. District Judge George Solomon permitting Shelton to play for Oregon State until the question of his eligibility is determined.

Shelton, a junior from Bakersfield, Calif., last June signed a $1.2 million contract with the St. Louis Spirits of the American Basketball Association.

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP) — Center Steve Puidokas and two other Washington State players scored more than 20 points each to pace the Cougars to a 98-85 Pacific 8 Conference basketball victory over California here Thursday.

Puidokas was good for 27 points, followed by Ron Davis with 25 and Norton Barnhill with 21. Carl Bird led the Bears' scoring with 23 points, while teammate Ricky Hawthorne scored 20.

DETROIT — Elly Appel Vessies upset seventh-seeded Cynthia Doerner 3-6, 6-3, 6-2 in the Women's Pro Tennis tournament.

ST. LOUIS — Top-seeded Guillermo Vilas glided to a 6-4, 6-3 win over Brian Gottfried to advance to the semifinals of the World Championship Tennis' St. Louis Classic.

SALISBURY, Md. — Lightly regarded Haroon Rahim of Pakistan upset thirdseeded Vitas Gerulaitis 6-3, 6-1 and gained a semifinal berth in the $50,000 National Indoor Tennis Championship.

ROME, Italy — Top-seeded Arthur Ashe defeated Stan Smith 5-7, 6-4, 6-4 in the second day of the $60,000 World Championship Tennis tournament.

DFG seeks changes

The Department of Fish and Game has asked the Fish and Game Commission to amend captive raptor breeding permits to permit permittees to posses the offspring and succeeding generations of birds held under permits.

Commissioners will consider the request at a meeting today in San Francisco.

Although permittees are authorized to possess only the species and number of birds listed on permits, the DFG said, three of seven persons holding such permits successfully bred and reared young last year.

As a result, one of the permittees now possesses one more bird than his permit authorizes him to have and other permittees soon will be the same situation.

"Progeny of captive bred birds are invaluable in developing techniques of breeding, incubation, brooding, feeding, training and reintroduction into the wild," a DFG spokesman said.

Prairie and merlin falcons both have been bred and raised in captivity, and the department wants to extend the work to peregrine falcons.

Also today, the commission will be asked to publish notice of its intention to repeal a section of the California Administrative Code exempting specially qualified persons from the requirement for hunter safety training.

State law requires that all persons — adults and youngsters — must be trained before purchasing their first California hunting license.

However, under Section 710 of the code, active duty military personnel and firearms instructors may be excused if they can pass a written examination.

In view of the changing emphasis of the training — sportsmanship and principles of conservation are now included — and administrative difficulties, the DFG has asked that the exemption be dropped.

It was designed primarily to permit Vietnam war servicemen to hunt without taking the training. Relatively few persons meet the qualifications for exemption as firearms instructors.

Commissioners also are scheduled to consider:

— Adding a portion of the McCloud River in Shasta County to the list of wild trout waters.

— Authorizing the DFG to enter into an agreement with the National Park Service for a study of desert bighorn sheep movements in Joshua Tree National Monument in southeastern California.

— Publishing notice of their intention to consider April 30 in San Diego extending a regulation permitting the use of spotter airplanes in the commercial swordfish industry.

— Publishing notice of intention to consider eliminating the quota system from the commercial shrimp fishing regulations for 1976.

Publishing notice of intention to consider adding Carmel Bay to the list of ecological reserves.

$5 tags await anglers

Four hundred large mouth bass with Department of Fish and Game $5 reward tags will be waiting for Lake Havasu anglers next month.

The fish will be tagged during the last week in February by DFG biologists who are looking for clues to find out why angling in Lake Havasu isn't as good as in most other large reservoirs on the Colorado River.

Biologist Alan Pickard says the DFG will pay $5 for each of the special tags turned in by anglers. The small green plastic tags have identification numbers on one side and the DFG address on the other.

In addition to the $5 anglers will receive for returning the tags, Pickard says the department also will send a letter telling the fishermen where and when the bass was tagged and how big it was when it was released.

Pickard says he hopes anglers also will report the date and location the tagged fish was caught as well as its size.

Information from the tag returns, along with additional information which will be collected during a year-long angler interview program at Lake Havasu, will help biologists find ways to improve angling at Lake Havasu, according to Pickard.

Fish, game fines, arrests decline

Fines and arrests for fish and game violations during the 1975 calendar year dropped about 4 percent from the corresponding figures for the previous year, the Department of Fish and Game reported.

Fines totaled $627,139, or 3.6 percent less than the $650,355 total for 1974, and the number of arrests was down from 19,683 to 18,897, a 4 percent decrease.

Courts suspended 43 hunting and 13 sport fishing licenses and revoked 15 hunting and 18 fishing licenses during 1975. The comparable figures for 1974 were 14, 9, 8 and 1.

For the first time in four years, the number of cases in which the court suspended the entire fine levied against the fish and game violator showed a drop. There were 1,001 such cases last year, 1,211 the year before, 984 in 1973 and 883 in 1972.

The number of cases dismissed (1,145) and jail days served (1,327) both were less than those for 1974. The total number of juvenile cases handled (491) was up about 20 percent, and the total of days suspended (6,088) climbed sharply from the previous year's 3,212.

By the type of violation, citations for having a loaded gun in an automobile (1,371) again led all hunting cituations, and, once more the bulk of the anglers cited (7,763) were written up for fishing without a license. Both figures lagged those for the 1974 year.

Other leading hunting violations by number of arrests were those involving waterfowl (825), trespass (733), hunting without a license (653) and deer (584).

Wardens most frequently cited fishermen for, in addition to having no license, clams and shellfish violations (1,588), angling with more than one rod (1,110), trout (854) and other inland fishing infractions (423).

Booklets offered

California sport fishing regulations booklets for 1976 will be available in a week to 10 days, the Department of Fish and Game advised anglers today.

First copies of the 32-page booklet are scheduled to come off the presses at the Office of State Printing late next week.

Well before month's end they should be available from DFG offices and license agents throughout the state. The new rules spelled out in the booklet will take effect March 1.

Sea brandt season ends

The hunting season for black sea brant, which opened statewide Jan. 17, will close Sunday, Feb. 22, the Department of Fish and Game said in a reminder issued today. The limits for black brandt are four per day, eight in possession.

Cal Poly gymnasts visit Cal State L.A.

Cal Poly Pomona's women's gymnastic team will compete in a three-way meet Saturday against Cal State Los Angeles and La Verne College.

The contest is scheduled for 7 p.m. at Cal State Los Angeles.

Poly upped its season record to a 9-1 mark last Friday when they defeated Cal State Long Beach and USC in a three-way meet held at Poly. The Broncos were down by 1.1 points behind CS Long Beach going into the floor exercise (last event) but won that event with 1.8 points to give them the overall victory.

A knothole is a hole in a board where a knot has fallen out. Usually a knot is simply a hard lump, or growth, formed at the point where a branch grows out of the tree trunk.

When the tree is cut down and sawed into boards, the "root" of the branch shows as a roundish place in the board. As the board dries and shrinks, the knot may fall out.

Knots are common in some woods. Knotty pine, for example, is full of knots. This wood is often used to make walls and ceilings.

The design or pattern found in wood is called the "figure." In some kinds of wood, the figure may be quite plain. In others, it can be curly, wavy, striped, or swirled.

The figure is caused by the direction of the wood fiber, or grain, and the variations of the tree's growth rings and the way the wood is cut.

Skilled workers at the sawmills can saw a tree in just the right way to bring out the beautiful figures in wood.

A pocket radio, camera, World Almanac globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/o this newspaper), Box 1335 (JA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

RESTAURANT AND NIGHT LIFE

NEW PIZZA PLACE in Chino is La Scala Italian restaurant at 5368 Riverside Drive. Owner Bill Riley (right) checks his ad with Muriel Vonk and Hector La Marque.

SOUTHERN COMFORT brings an entertaining lounge show to the Beef 'n Barrel. Favorable reaction greeted their Tuesday night opening at the Claremont restaurant.

GARTH "WOODY" ELLWOOD

I decided to venture down to the Glen Avon area of Riverside last weekend to find out something about a restaurant there called the Bull & Boar. Formerly a Mexican restaurant, B & B now offers steaks, prime rib and seafoods and (last Friday night, at least) a lively piano bar. Carolyn Francis plays for the loungers there and everyone (and I mean EVERYONE) at the bar was taking turns singing their favorites with gusto. Since I had already eaten (and well too, I might add, at John and Stella Gianakos' Yiannis Greek restaurant in Claremont) I just dropped in for drinks, hoping to also meet owner Richard Perryman. I'm not sure what I expected of the Bull & Boar but I was pleasantly surprised when I stepped into the restaurant. It's really quite nice, the dining rooms even modestly elegant. And after hearing some of Perryman's plans for the place, I'm looking forward to going back for dinner. If you're interested in going down there, I found a good way was San Berdo Fwy to Etiwanda Ave., south to Pomona Fry, east to Pedley Road, short south to Mission, east to 8607. About 20 minutes from Upland.

Another B & B place, the Beef 'n Barrel in Claremont, is showcasing a new musical group called Southern Comfort. Jim Haidet, B & B manager, had invited me to drop in on SC's Tuesday night opening, and I arrived midway through their first set of the evening.

I've often thought that a lounge filled with people engaged in small talk over drinks would be difficult to play to; that it would be hard for the entertainers to get their attention. And, indeed, Southern Comfort seemed to be having problems in this regard. I can't say they "grabbed" me as some groups have, notably, Applejack, a B & B group we heard in December after they had had time to polish and tailor their act to the requirements of the lounge at the Barrel. But beyond some opening night acoustical problems, I gradually became aware of the talent displayed by the four youngsters who call themselves Southern Comfort.

They come here via an engagement in Lake Tahoe, bringing to the Valley the lounge show type of entertainment that's easy to take. I was particularly impressed with their vocal sound (they all sing). Their voices blend well, a strength they use to good advantage. Their show sets include easy listening numbers, novelty tunes and favorites from the 30s and 40s, and a medley of songs of the South, a trademark salute to "home" for three members of the group. The three, each from a different place down South, happened to get together for a summer sting in 1970 and, after going their separate ways, each migrated to the West Coast, re-uniting in 1972 to form Southern Comfort. They've been gaining momentum, getting good reviews from their appearances in hotel lounges from Florida to 'Frisco. Now they're here. If you want to take a break from your dancing routine, catch Southern Comfort at The Beef 'n Barrel. They will be there several weeks, and the show they put on is wholesome, enjoyable and entertaining.

* * *

Were you at Oliver's last weekend? Many of you were because the place was packed. It's not overly large in the first place and it seemed there were more of us waiting than eating, a testimonial to the growing popularity of this English style dinner house of Foothill in Upland. Moral of the story for Woody: Make Reservations Earlier.

AROUND AND ABOUT

. . . Are you looking for something a little different in entertainment? Like maybe an audience involvement show with magic, hypnotism, E.S.P.? The Robert Allen show, featuring the aforementioned, is at Tiffiny's in North Pomona.

. . . Narod tells me that saxophonist Joe Houston will be an extra added attraction on Sunday nights in the lounge of his Chino restaurant. Houston will be backed by the regular Sunday night group there, "The Four Guys Plus One."

PAS seeking May 5 queen

The Proyecto Accion Social (PAS) Center in Upland is seeking candidates for queen to reign over Cinco de Mayo festivities.

The program for the festival will be announced later. Its purpose is to raise funds for Mexican-American scholarships and the Mexican community.

Queen candidates must be 15 to 21 years old, single, and of Mexican parentage. Girls from the Pomona Valley and the West End are eligible.

Applications can be obtained at the PAS Center, 869½ E. Foothill Blvd., Upland, and at student centers of local high schools and colleges. The deadline is 9 a.m. March 20.

Further information can be obtained from Ricardo Marcelino, 985-0818, during the day, and from Isabel Contreras, 982-2324, during the evening.

Health benefits

NEW YORK (AP) — The Health Insurance Institute estimates a record $32.9 billion in benefits was paid out in 1975 by private health insurers in the United States.

The institute said its figures showed an 18.4 per cent increase over the $27.8 billion paid out in 1974.

Occurrence at Owl Creek

Local group due at UCR

Occurrence at Owl Creek, popular Claremont bluegrass group, will join Country Gazette in a concert in the University Theater of UC Riverside at 8 p.m. Saturday. Admission is $2.50.

Owl Creek is made up of Gil Frazee, guitar; Jim Cope, fiddle and guitar; Dave Brock, banjo and fiddle; Dave Speer, bass, and Roy Durnal, drums. The group has performed widely at nightclubs and resorts throughout Southern California, including the Troubadour, McCabe's and the Palomino.

The young musicians played at the Widowmaker Inn in Flagstaff, Ariz., for a month, were recalled for a second engagement and have been booked there again in April. They are currently appearing at the Wrangler in San Gabriel.

Country Gazette's present makeup includes three of the original 1971 founding four — banjo player Alan Munde, bassist Roger Bush and guitarist Kenny Wertz.

The fourth member, guitarist Roland White, is the brother of folk guitarist Clarence White and is also a respected musician, first achieving bluegrass prominence as a member of the now-defunct Kentucky Colonels.

The group employs the fast flat-picking style and high-harmony vocals that work comfortably in traditional tunes like "Sally Goodin" and "Black Mountain Rag" and more contemporary music like Beatles or Elton John.

Violet

New Jersey's state flower is the violet.

'Same Time' hits big time

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Is it a play or an industry? At the Los Angeles opening of the Broadway hit "Same Time, Next Year," producer Morton Gottlieb reported that the play will soon have five U.S. companies and 19 overseas.

The play is ideal economically — two characters and a single set. It concerns two people who are married, though not to each other, and meet for a tryst at the same hotel every year for 25 years. Stars of the company now at the Ahmanson Theater of the Los Angeles Music Center are Joyce Van Patten and Conrad Janis.

The Mirisch Company bought film rights for what Gottlieb says is a record price for a nonmusical — $1 million plus 10 per cent of the profits. No hurry about who will play the two roles. The contract reads that the movie can't be released until 1978.
